Minimum Wage To Be Raised

Welensky Defeated

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Sir Roy Welensky suffered a decisive defeat by Deputy Premier Clifford Dupont in a by-election Thursday. Welensky was topped 1,078 votes to 633 in his bid to return to politics on a multi-racial policy in the constituency of Arundel.

Three Men Seized In Home Bombings

JACKSON, Miss (UPI)—Three white men and an arsenal of high-powered rifles and other weapons were seized Thursday in connection with the bombing of two Negro homes in the racially-tense McComb, Miss., area.

DEATH PENALTY

Authorities charged the three men—one a Ku Klux Klan member—with bombing the homes, under a state law that carries a maximum penalty of death. They were rushed to Jackson for further questioning.

There were reliable reports that other persons were being questioned and further arrests might come shortly.

Paul Dewey Wilson, 25, Ernest Frederick Zeech, 25, and Jimmy Princeton Wilson, 28, were picked up by FBI agents working with the highway patrol and Pike County Sheriff R. R. Warren.

MOVING GUNS

Wilson, a railroad worker and member of the Klan and the Americans for the Preservation of the White Race, was arrested first after federal and state agents saw him moving guns and ammunition out of his McComb home.

Bombs Fly in Belfast Battle

BELFAST (AP)—Club-swinging police charged crowds of bomb-throwing Irish Republican supporters here late Thursday night and brought in armored cars to crush a sudden outbreak of street fighting. Molotov cocktails (gasoline bombs) hurled out of a crowd and one burst under a police armored car, forcing the occupants to jump clear. Police drew their batons and charged. They were met with a volley of blows aimed with iron bars and pieces of grating torn up from the roads.

One gang grabbed a trolley bus which had just discharged its passengers, turned it over and set it on fire. The bus was destroyed.

An official spokesman said 20 police were taken to a hospital for treatment and five detained, one in serious condition with a fractured skull. Twelve civilians were also injured in the fighting but all were released after hospital attention.

Fifteen demonstrators were carted off under arrest in police wagons and the city was quiet by 2 a.m.

The trouble erupted in the electoral district of West Belfast

—one of 12 Northern Ireland districts where voting takes place Oct. 15 for seats in the British House of Commons.

West Belfast is the only one of the 12 where the Republicans—dedicated to union of the six Northern Irish counties with the Irish Republic—are reckoned to have a fighting chance of victory.

Irish tricolor displayed in the building's shopfront.

An angry crowd estimated at more than 1,000 built up outside the headquarters and hurled the police with rocks and bottles as they were forced back into the side streets.

Gas Leak Claims Two More Lives

NECKARSULM, West Germany (Reuters)—Elmer Lawrence of Milwaukee and his German-born wife Charlotte, who flew to Germany Wednesday to arrange the funeral of Charlotte's parents, both killed by leaking gas last Saturday, were killed in the parents' apartment—by leaking gas.

Rising Fury

Hilda Aims At Coast

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Hurricane Hilda, a 150-mile-an-hour storm, aimed its fury at the Louisiana coast Thursday night, and residents of the low-lying Cajun country fled inland.

Hurricane warnings went up from the Texas border to the mouth of the Mississippi below New Orleans. Gale warnings for the biggest storm of the season extended from Galveston, Tex., to Mobile, Ala.

BOLLING IN

High tides were starting to roll in. Flooding was expected along the coast overnight.

Hilda, almost as big as the states of Louisiana and Mississippi combined, was bigger than Hurricane Cleo, which rained 140-mile-an-hour winds into Haiti last month, killing 150 people.

The storm was picking up speed after dawdling in the Gulf of Mexico building strength. Wind velocity increased from 90 miles an hour Wednesday to 150 miles an hour Thursday afternoon.

'Should Have Built Frigates for Navy'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons defence committee indirectly criticized Defence Minister Hellyer Thursday for cancelling the previous Conservative government's program to build eight frigates for the navy.

It said in a report tabled in the Commons that the navy needs new anti-submarine ships and that it has little air defense capability. The frigates were to have been equipped with anti-aircraft missiles.

The committee called for an early government decision on a naval construction program and gave first priority to a transport vessel capable of carrying troops and supplies for United HYDERABAD, India (Reuters)—Some 250 of the 500 fishermen missing in the Bay of Bengal since the weekend have returned safely to the villages along India's east coast, according to reports reaching here today.

Taft-Hartley Order

Go Back to Work Longshoremen Told

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge Thursday night ordered an immediate halt to the Atlantic and Gulf Coast strike of 60,000 union longshoremen.

Acting under the Taft-Hartley law, invoked by the White House, Judge Frederick Bryan, in a temporary restraining order, enjoined the longshoremen from continuing their strike.

The order remains in effect until Oct. 10. Meanwhile, Judge Bryan scheduled an Oct. 8 hearing on a government request for a preliminary injunction to provide an 80-day cooling-off period in the strike.

The action came after Herbert Schmeitz, heard of a presidential board of inquiry, reported to President Johnson.

Schmeitz conferred Thursday with officials of the New York Shipping Association, representing owners, and the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, which called the strike in a contract dispute. Job security in the face of automation was the major question, with wages another issue.

The board's function was to determine whether the strike imperilled the national health and safety.

Thomas W. Teddy Gleason, I.L.A. president, said the men would obey an injunction order.

'Hatchet' Plans for Queen How to Start Riot

MONTREAL (CP)—La Cogne (The Hatchet), a clandestine terrorist news sheet, advises its separatist supporters to instigate riots or put on a show of force during the Queen's visit to Quebec City Oct. 10-11.

The mimeographed pamphlet, published under the name of Le Front de Liberation Quebecois (FLQ), was described by police Thursday as "part of the arsenal" of Quebec terrorists.

The Aug. 29 edition of the twice-a-month sheet advised supporters to choose an "active" type of demonstration in Quebec City "aimed at creating a riot or putting on a show of force."

DISCONTENT It made no mention of harming the Queen, saying only that "our discontent will express itself now in a more radical way to show the world that the people of Quebec irrevocably oppose the visit imposed on them."

La Cogne also said several cases of arms were stolen recently from the Montreal waterfront but that authorities had kept the news secret.

A Montreal police spokesman said he was unaware of any such thefts.

AGITATORS' ROLE La Cogne advised those of its supporters "without precise instructions" to take part in demonstrations against the royal visit being organized by the Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale and the Front Republicain pour l'Indépendance separatist groups.

The issue devotes most of its space to an article on the agitators' role in demonstrations. It said agitators should incite the crowd to persist in their demonstration even if fired on by the police. Slogans such as "down with the police gendarme" should be raised.

Dynamic Protection For Invasion

MONTREAL (CP)—Police measures being taken for the forthcoming visit to Canada of the Queen were mentioned in court Wednesday when bail was denied C. W. Colomb, charged with illegal possession of 33 sticks of dynamite and an unregistered revolver.

Crown Prosecutor Jean-Guy Boilard quoted Colomb as telling police when arrested: "I had this in my possession just in case of an invasion."

Pope May Make Flight to India

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI Thursday was considering a trip to India.

His decision appeared to depend on the progress the Vatican ecumenical council makes by November, when a Roman Catholic eucharistic congress starts in Bombay.

The first firm evidence that the Pontiff was contemplating a 4,100-mile flight to Bombay came in L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican's official newspaper.

several times any knowledge of such papal plans.

The Vatican daily newspaper carried an interview in which Valerian Cardinal Gracias, archbishop of Bombay, said the Pope will announce his trip several weeks in advance if he should decide to make the eight-hour flight.

A eucharistic congress is a major spiritual gathering held every four years. The 1964 congress is to open Nov. 28 in Bombay, eight days after the expected close of the Vatican council's current third session.

Goodwill Campaign Slated in October

Some fractured furniture or a beat-up blazer can make the difference of a job for handicapped workers in Victoria.

When the Goodwill Enterprises warehouse on Broad Street burned last summer the winter work of 90 handicapped persons went up in smoke.

To remedy the situation, the organization's annual drive will be held in October instead of November as customary.

Depending on the results of the drive for their livelihood are 86 men and women who sort, repair and sell the discarded articles.

Helping Goodwill with the drive are members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, H.Y. and Y-Teen clubs of Greater Victoria.

Goodwill bags will be dropped Oct. 10 at homes in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

The full bags will be picked up by a volunteer crew of 50 men in 30 trucks Oct. 17.

And remember—one bag when filled will give one handicapped worker two days' wages.

Defence Criticized

development of more effective anti-submarine weapons should be undertaken without delay.

The committee, under the chairmanship of David Hahn, Liberal MP for Toronto Broadview, complained that emergency civil defence measures have been seriously impaired by lack of liaison among the federal, provincial and municipal governments.

Programs to induce Canadians to build personal fallout shelters had failed and should be abandoned. The recent accidental triggering of the seven alarm system in Ottawa had revealed several weaknesses in emergency procedures and administration which "must be rectified."

CAN'T DO JOB

The committee said the militia will be unable to fulfill its assigned roles if it is cut to 30,000 personnel from 45,000 as announced by Mr. Hellyer.

Administrative procedures of the reserve forces were "cumbersome, restrictive, petty and generally hamper efficient operations."

The committee recommended that the National Defence Act be amended to provide for call-out of reservists for active duty for limited periods.

Mr. Hellyer has already indicated the government will act on some of the committee recommendations.

On the Emergency Measures Organization, the committee noted there hasn't been a federal-provincial meeting since 1962 and that none is scheduled. There had been no national defence exercise for a number of years.

The meetings should be resumed, the committee said, and the responsibilities of the various levels of government clearly defined.

It recommended a cost study of modern facilities at Royal Military College, Kingston, to replace "converted" boiler rooms, stables and haylofts."

Hobson's Choice Tonight

Under the sponsorship of the PEO Sisterhood, Chapter 5, the Victoria Theatre Guild production of Hobson's Choice will go on this evening at the Langham Court Theatre. The play will continue Saturday and all next week with curtain time on all occasions at 8:15 p.m.

Canadian Films Scheduled

A series of Canadian films will be shown starting Tuesday as part of the Greater Victoria school board's night school program.

The series, Film Cavalcade III, is sponsored by the National Film Board, the Victoria Public Library and the school board.

First part of the series runs from Oct. 6 to Nov. 3 and includes films on various aspects of life in Canada.

The second portion, a Canadian nature series, runs Nov. 10 to Dec. 8.

Plans for the third and fourth portions for 1966 are still to be completed.

Each evening's program will include at least four films. Fee for any five evenings is $2.50 or 60 cents for a single ticket.

Films will be shown every Tuesday in the Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium starting at 7:30 p.m.

4,000 Homeless

BANGKOK (Reuters)—At least 4,000 people are homeless because of floods inundating central Thailand.

Witness Tells Court

He Went Willingly On Ride to Beating

A witness told a city magistrate's court Thursday he willingly accompanied two men on a car ride that ended with a beating that placed him in hospital for five days.

Nicola Zegario, 24, was testifying in the preliminary hearing into attempted murder charges against Rodney Leason, 22, 1300 Gladstone, and Gary McWhirter, 20, of Sooke.

The two men are charged with beating Zegario into unconsciousness in a wooded area near Prospect Lake Sept. 10. They were also charged with robbery with violence and theft of a car.

HOUSE PARTY

Defence counsel Robert Price questioned Zegario at length about the circumstances that led to his meeting McWhirter earlier in Squamish and a Victoria house party that culminated in a complaint of rape to police.

The complaint was made by Zegario after he found a juvenile girl drunk and naked from the waist down in the bathroom of Leason's parents' home. He said a man, known to him only as Bill, had spent 20 minutes in the closed bathroom with the girl and he "assumed he had raped her."

BLOOD FOUND

RCMP crime laboratory witnesses said human blood had been found on a man's shirt, a rock and some leaves sent to the lab by city detectives.

The tests did not determine what type of human blood was present. It is expected the hearing will not conclude until Monday.

such missiles as bricks, stones and eggs to the crowd in order to press on offensive—but the instigators should refrain from throwing them themselves.

WAVE OF TERROR

The FLQ was held responsible for a six-week wave of terror in Montreal last year during which one man was killed and another seriously injured in dynamite blasts.

A police spokesman here said "this sheet is part of their revolutionary methods, and we'd be crazy not to find out everything about it." He said it gave police "a kind of diary of what these people are doing, how they're thinking, and what they may be up to."

Police say they came close to getting at the source of the publication one month ago when they raided a bush camp near Shawinigan, Que. looking for a man who escaped a police gunfight during the abortive robbery Aug. 29 of a Montreal gunshop.

Inside the camp, police found "thousands" of copies of La Cogne, plus several original, edited drafts of articles that had already been printed in the paper. But they found no printing equipment.

Seven men arrested in the raid were later charged in connection with the gunshop raid that took two lives.

Minimum Wage

proposal. He overcame it only by threatening to ditch the whole code if the $1.25 minimum was not included. That rate was promised by the Liberals in the last two federal election campaigns.

Provincial minimum wage laws now go as low as 50 cents an hour for men in Newfoundland.

Some provinces had already complained that the federal wage proposal would force them into a difficult situation. Alberta's Labor Minister, Raymond Redmond, said in Edmonton Wednesday the code would put unfair pressure on the provinces to provide matching labor standards.

LABOR APPROVES

The federal move was warmly applauded, however, by organized labor.

Joe Morris, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said in Ottawa the CLC fully endorses the principle of the legislation.

"We feel that establishment of these standards, while not all that we would desire, is a step in the right direction," he said.

MINIMUM WAGE

It has been estimated the minimum wage provision would raise the pay of nearly 50,000 workers among the 556,000 immediately involved. They include about 16,000 civil servants in the bottom categories.

Other provisions in the new code include a standard eight-hour day and 40-hour week, two weeks vacation with pay after one year, and seven paid statutory holidays. For overtime, pay must be at time-and-a-half.

It also sets a maximum work week of 48 hours. Firms that want to work employees more than 48 hours for certain periods must apply to the labor department for a permit.

LOWER WAGE

Industries or companies may apply for temporary exemption from the code if they can prove that its immediate application would be "seriously detrimental."

Such exemptions would be for a maximum 18 months, ending July 1, 1966. During the exemption period the labor department may specify the lower minimum wage to be paid, allowing for a gradual increase to reach the $1.25 hourly rate.

The bill includes penalties for employers who do not comply with its standards, ranging up to $1,000 fines and sentences up to a year in jail.

Heel Spurs May Be Treated —But Get After the Cause

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has spurs on the inside of his heels. X-rays have been taken and ultrasonic treatments have been tried but they don't seem to give any relief. What do you suggest?—A.W.K.

When an injury occurs, either from a sudden, severe trauma, or from slow persistent irritation, or from repeated, small incidents, and the body has to heal it, nature uses a good bit of calcium in the process.

This may be the knitting of a bone, or the calcification of a spur. Either way, calcification—a this accumulation of calcium—takes place.

Heel spurs are calcification of a tendon attached to the under side of the heel bone. The spur itself may not be the whole story. The tendon may be torn. Or there may be bursitis, or some faulty aspect of posture or balance which puts too much pressure on a sensitive point. Being overweight is a common factor in painful spurs. Many people have spurs without any discomfort. Here are some methods of relief:

● If the patient is obese—reduce!

● A sponge rubber cushion for the heel, inside the shoe, is a good solution for some people.

● Shifting the point at which you carry your own weight may make a difference. A suitable arch support, or possibly raising the heel, or the shoe, may help.

● Hot soaks of the feet are often helpful in reducing inflammation of the bursa (bursitis) if that is a factor. Aspirin or other forms of the salicylates can be taken for pain.

● Occasionally soft-soled or ripple-soled shoes ease the discomfort.

● Injection of the area with procaine or hydrocortisone will relieve the pain.

● Ultrasonics, infrared, or other such applications of "deep heat" are worth trying in suitable cases.

● In very severe cases, surgical removal of the spur may be necessary. This is usually successful, but new spurs have been known to form. After all, something caused the spur in the first place! So faulty posture, overweight, or improperly fitted shoes should be corrected if any or all of these are present.

An orthopedist (bone specialist) or podiatrist (foot specialist) should be consulted to ascertain the causes and proper treatment if the simpler remedies do not ease the discomfort.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am trying to recall if I read in your column once that taking one of the B vitamins regularly will repel mosquitoes.—MRS. C.J.J.

I have mentioned that thiamin chloride, which is one of the B group, causes an odor that repels mosquitoes. This vitamin contains a sulfur radical which probably is the source of the odor. I have also had readers say it does not work for them. There's no harm in trying. However, insect repellents applied to the skin are effective, of course.

Home Says Labor In Grip of Panic

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home says the Labor party appears to be in the grip of political panic.

That was his response Thursday to Labor Leader Harold Wilson's charge that the Conservative chieftain had deceived the public about the state of Britain's economic health. Wilson also suggested Conservatives were encouraging strikes to embarrass Labor in this general election fight.

"The behavior of the Labor leaders over the last 48 hours can only be explained in terms of panic," Douglas-Home said in a Manchester rally.

He said he would refuse to indulge in the kind of "personal abuse" heaped on him. As for Wilson's charges that the current boom was just a temporary screen hiding deep economic troubles, Douglas-Home said Britain is going through a "testing phase" and Wilson's talk could only damage the country in the eyes of the world.

Mearns, speaking in the North London area, continued his attack, charging that the Tory government had forced up prices, interest rates, land costs and encouraged profiteering.

"We are going to stop the exploitation of consumers," he said, adding that a Labor administration would ban false advertising, expose excessive prices and eliminate "rackets" in installment-buying practices.

Earlier, other Conservatives tossed out jibes that Wilson was "rattled" and "running scared."

FOMENTING STRIKES

They came after Wilson suggested in a heated campaign speech that Conservatives conspired at fomenting strikes during elections. This was in reference to a strike currently threatening all British car production.

With 13 days to go before voting day, at least two major opinion polls indicate Labor's lead over the Tories is vanishing. But Labor spokesmen contended that their own polls throughout the country continued to show a comfortable Labor lead.

Vote Will Fix Mineral Rights

Boy Bests Adults

Here Piggy! Here Piggy!

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—Adults with lungs of leather took turns bellowing at a small herd of disheveled swine at the Los Angeles County Fair's hog-calling championship.

"Who, pigs!" yelled one.

"So-o-o-y. So-o-y!" hollered another.

And not a pig moved.

Then up stood a slim blonde boy named Johnny.

"Pigs!" he cried, in a clear, young voice. "Piggy!"

Half-a-dozen big porters lunged across the big pavilion in answer to the call. They oinked happily. The crowd applauded.

And that was how four-year-old Johnny Mungirth of Pomona Wednesday won the 1964 hog-calling trophy.

Thompson Scored

IWA Demanding Apology From Vancouver Official

VANCOUVER (CP)—The western region council of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) demanded an apology Thursday from Syd Thompson, president of Vancouver Local 1-217.

A resolution passed by delegates at the annual IWA convention demanded a public apology for "false statements" by Thompson to the effect that "thousands of dollars had been spent illegally from the region's strike fund."

Delegates put teeth in their motion, giving regional officers the power to seek a hearing at the next international board meeting Oct. 14 if Thompson fails to make an apology.

The convention Thursday also reaffirmed the region's opposition to nuclear weapons, instructing their officers to notify the federal cabinet of their decision.

Minister's Trial

Party 'Shocked' Defence Witness

CHATHAM (CP)—A 17-year-old defence witness in the trial of Rev. Russell D. Horsburgh said Thursday he was "shocked" at seeing what was going on between teen-age boys and girls at a Sunday night party in the Park Street United Church apartment.

The youth's admission came under cross-examination after first telling Crown Attorney Blake Ward that he had given detective Tom Bird a statement saying he had never seen anything improper happen in the church.

"ROUGH PARTY?" Mr. Horsburgh, 45, is charged with eight counts of contributing to juvenile delinquency. He has pleaded not guilty.

"It was a rough party?" Mr. Ward suggested to the Grade 10 high school student.

"Yes," the youth said. "A girl had her blouse removed or opened."

HIGH STANDARDS

Earlier, the wife of a Chatham businessman and an active member of the church said that Mr. Horsburgh's series of lectures on sex and morals, conducted last year, was something she had waited for all her life.

She said she felt Mr. Horsburgh had taught young people morals and high standards where sex is concerned. She indicated a "split" had existed in the church, with the older people "against" Mr. Horsburgh.

What Will it Be?

Canada's Best-Kept Secret Locked Inside Room 356-S

OTTAWA (UPI)—The door to Room 356-S guards the way to what is becoming the best kept secret in parliamentary history—and it's always locked.

The door leads into the deliberations room of the sphinx-like Commons flag committee deciding on the design of Canada's first distinctive national flag.

The door is locked when members are attending meetings and when they are away.

There are flags with crosses, with leaves, with stripes and of every color—at least 4,000 of them.

What the committee is doing with them or if it has narrowed the selection down to a more reasonable number, no one knows.

The most notable thing about the committee's deliberations is its effective secrecy. Probably never before has Parliament seen a secret so well kept, certainly not by 15 people from five different parties.

The committee members—seven Liberals, five Conservatives and three from the other parties—have a stock answer for any queries, from press or fellow MPs: "No comment."

Unsolved Problem

SHORTLY AFTER his nomination as Republican presidential candidate Senator Barry Goldwater flew to Washington for a private meeting with President Johnson at which both men agreed that "racial tensions should be avoided" in the election campaign.

This move, despite President Johnson's later assertion that he did not regard the agreement as a pact to ignore civil rights as an issue, clearly indicates that neither the Republicans nor the Democrats want the current American negro problem—with all its emotional involvements—to become a dominant factor in the choosing of a president of the United States.

This week one of England's most influential daily newspapers, The Manchester Guardian, has advocated that a similar agreement be reached between the three major British political parties now contesting a general election in the United Kingdom.

Expressing the view that racial questions should be left out of the British election campaign, The Guardian says: "Perhaps the simplest way . . . would be for formal declarations to be issued by the three leaders deploring any attempt to play on racial prejudices or sentiments. Racial prejudice is, after all, probably the greatest unsolved problem of our time; and however sophisticated the British electorate may be, no solution will be found in the next three weeks."

However, regardless of the fact that what The Guardian says is undeniably true and despite the hope which both American presidential candidates have expressed, is the racial issue one which can be avoided at this time?

Is it not, in fact, an issue which may prove itself bigger than any British or American political party? Bigger, perhaps, than either the United States or Britain themselves?

Today, it is not only the governments of the United States or Britain who face problems raised by the desires, hopes, needs, ambitions and demands of the non-white races. Though many might be loath to admit it, the whole world is rapidly moving toward a division by color.

For untold centuries the non-white peoples of the world were held to be inferior beings capable only of being serfs or vassals to those blessed with skins of a lighter hue.

Today this has changed. In the past few years countless millions of non-whites have been released from their bondage and granted the privilege of ruling themselves and seeking their own destinies. Yet, despite this and the generous aid granted the new republics by the white nations, the color barrier not only persists but seemingly becomes greater.

This is due to a number of reasons, ranging from the frequently demonstrated irresponsibility of the non-white nations, to the initiation of many ill-conceived and misguided policies of the white countries. It is also largely a question of economics, inasmuch as the majority of "have nots" are non-white.

The result of this is that the "have nots" are becoming more and more demanding of the "haves" through both the open forum of the United Nations (where the non-white "have nots" form the largest single bloc in the General Assembly) and the secret conclaves of Embassies and Consulates all over the world.

Thus this problem, which for long has been conveniently sloughed off as a mere matter of conscience affecting only those nations or individuals closely connected with it, has developed into something which concerns—or should concern—the whole world.

Carrying the Colors

IN MODEST vein but full of hope, it is reported, the athletes who will carry Canada's colors at this month's Olympic Games, have left for Tokyo, the locale of the 1964 Olympiad.

The modesty derives from knowledge that in the final placements this country is unlikely to be among the premier prize winners, but hope while always springing eternal is buttressed by equal knowledge that the Canadian group includes performers capable of reaching the international heights.

It is being pointed out also that our 1964 team can scarcely do less than did our 1960 representatives at the last Olympiad, in Rome, when in only one event did they finish among the first three contestants, but this is to be pessimistic in the extreme. Genuine bad luck did then intervene to deprive the team of laurels that normally might well have been a deserved reward.

Canadian athletes will face the cream of the world's entries, and the odds in this respect are tilted against them, even if some surprises in the context may eventuate. They go to Tokyo under another handicap, one not of their own making or reflecting on their individual qualities.

They do not in this country get the sustained backing given to many other national groups. Encouragement and training facilities are neither ample nor enthusiastically forthcoming and in the main it is their own pride and personal endeavor that takes them to Tokyo. Unlike those nations which usually finish high in Olympic standings, there is an apathy towards athletics extant in Canada which is the real reason why this country is invariably a lesser participant in Olympiads. Team sports dominate the interest and in general the national scene, at the expense of our Olympians.

If at Tokyo they fail therefore to set the heather on fire the fault is not to be laid solely on them. Until as a nation we provide the kind of support enjoyed by athletes from the United States, Britain, Australia, Russia, Sweden, et al, we are expecting them to do too much.

Nevertheless one feels sure they will give every ounce of effort that is in them, something the country whose banner they bear has not done, and they will perform honorably and well. We wish them every success.

Mr. Pickersgill: I was not as grey then as I am now.

Thinking Aloud

" . . . of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax,
By TOM TAYLOR

It might be dubiously legal or it might not, but the NDP folk have come up with a cute scheme to pay off its debts—they'll run a gamble on the British elections.

One doesn't call a thing like this gambling, of course; this is a naughty word even though vast numbers of people so inclined—yours truly included—have pocketfuls of lottery tickets of one kind and another. But on the surface we're supposed to shun getting money for nothing, unless some uncle we don't know we have passes on and leaves us some.

It won't really be for nothing in the NDP case; there will be much scratching of brows to guess how many seats each U.K. party gets in the next parliament. This takes skill, you know, and isn't at all like a bingo game where you just sit and wait on Lady Luck. And the law stands by with abolution in this instance.

The paradox of our official lottery—cum—sweepstakes—deceases.

Anyway the NDP don't even rival the big bigones with which we are familiar. A trip to London worth $1,000 doesn't match a giveaway car.

A little thought has struck the back of my mind, though. Is this a subtle opening of a political door to fame and fortune, for the NDP of course. Does it suggest that come the next election campaign they'll bid for votes by promising to run a government sweepstakes?

That would be tempting a lot of those—er, "reprehensible" citizens who like a flutter. And who probably will be running minor office sweeps on the British elections even as it is, not to speak of the forthcoming World Series.

You never know, though, do you, what's in the wind of political manoeuvre.

They may there will be no military significance if Red China sets off its first atomic blast. I have no doubts.

I have never thought for instance that all these plans for exploring the moon, et cetera, are simply to open up new travel vistas for tourists.

It's far away yet, we are assured, and even if China had militant designs she'd need another 10 or 15 years to fashion a nuclear weapon. That's more than soon enough. A decade slips by in a comparative wink. The sooner Peking is invited into the UN the better, I fancy. Then maybe we can persuade her to hold her hand—10 years hence.

Holding hands is preferable to shaking a fist, you know.

We are promised a life of leisure as automation pots home sapiens into the discard; ironic if this coincides with untempered nations having a nuclear trigger.

Leisure to do what?

I gather the Macpherson Playhouse is to be a real top-notch centre of entertainment. Only the best will be allowed to perform on its boards.

This is all to the good in its way, and this new civic theatre promises to be an attractive centre for Victoria patrons once it gets under way, now not too far off.

I hope though that the playhouse isn't rentally priced out of reach for worthwhile local singing, dramatic and other relevant groups. It is a subsidy venture of the city treasury, after all, and if it's to be a civic theatre it will have to enter in requisite measure to civic offerings.

Super-duper outside attractions are to be welcomed, but the many talented artists in our midst—and there ARE such—shouldn't be forgotten.

They warrant every consideration.

I read in the Colonist that a former president of the Victoria student council called grants to higher education in B.C. "a public disgrace," and that students are expected to pay for the paragon of the government.

It is easy enough to make statements of this type until you have to support them by the facts. Referring to the budget report I read that our two universities receive $15,503,000 in 1963-64 as compared with $2,338,000 in 1961-62, an increase of 601% in 13 years. In addition, the university student assistance program by which the province pays one-half of the fees for all pupils attaining first-class marks and one-third of the fees for the first 2,000 scholars achieving second class grades. Ottawa is also granting loans of $1,000 free of interest until the student is through college.

When our former council president makes such uncalled for statements he seems to forget it is the taxpayer, including the old-age pensioner who is called to assume a heavier financial burden to help the student, and who rather bitterly remarks he was given no such advantage. Gratitude for favors received does not seem to be part of education today but only an everlasting give me attitude.

E. G., Victoria.

FAMOUS LETTERS IN CANADIAN HISTORY—NO. 18

The Founder

Champlain was truly the father of New France.

From that day in 1603 when he first saw the St. Lawrence flowing out of the heart of this continent until Christmas Day in 1635 when he died at Quebec City, New France was all he lived for.

He nurtured the tiny habitation he founded at Quebec in 1608 into a solid community only to be driven out by English adventurers in 1629. Four years later he was to return and begin again to forge a nation.

In this letter, part of which is published here, Champlain appeals to his patron, the great Cardinal Richelieu for support and 120 soldiers to fight the Iroquois who were the implacable enemy of the French settlers and the greatest threat to the young colony.

This letter is one of few existing ones signed by Champlain although he wrote a great deal and the original of it is preserved in the archives of the Department of Foreign Affairs in Paris.

Champlain Asks Richelieu for Aid

From Quebec this 18th of August, 1604

Monsieur
Last year I informed your Highness that we had taken possession again of these grounds in the name of His Majesty and of Your Eminence, protector of this so holy and laudable project. I also depicted the shameful state in which I had found these territories, caused by the total ruin left behind by the English.

This letter is to inform your Highness I am having the ruins cleared, the fortifications reinforced, the buildings increased in number and I am having two new "habitations" erected . . . Through the coming years the French colony will grow, so will increase the number of "habitations" frightening away the Iroquois who give us so much to do here, coming from after he spy on our people as they work in the fields and killing them treacherously.

In order to defeat them and make them too the line under His Majesty's law, six companies of 30 men from France, well armed, with the help of the Hurons our allies, will suffice to exterminate them or bring them to reason.

I know their strength and their ways of war which gives me such an advantage over them that with the Grace of God if I receive the assistance I ask for I could easily keep them in bay.

Of your Highness, Monsieur, the most humble and obedient servant,
CHAMPLAIN.

New Nations of the World

Respect for the UN Charter

By LOUIS B. FLEMING

UNITED NATIONS—Western countries have had two haunting apprehensions concerning the new nations of the world.

1—A fear that the Afro-Asians would prove unable to govern themselves and that the Communists would gain in the ensuing chaos, and

2—A concern that the Afro-Asians would undermine the principles of world law and order, fragile as they might be, by a seeming determination to condemn all sins but their own.

Now, at the mid point in the decade of independence, there is justification to feel less fearful about the disintegration of the region. In a singular decision of the Security Council last month, there is new evidence that concerns about respect for a world of law and order may have been misplaced—although it must be quickly added that the crucial test of this lies ahead.

The most obvious reassurance that Africa and Asia are not going to disintegrate lies in the fact that disorder is the exception rather than the rule. Even in Africa, where sovereignty generally is a creature of this decade, only the Congo stands out as a failure. Of course, others may come unhinged and it is impossible to conceal concern at the authoritarianism of almost all the new governments.

Even more reassuring to the United States, which is preoccupied with the cold war, is the failure of Communism to take over generally. Each continent has its pressure point—South Viet Nam and, again, the Congo—but unexpected developments are moderating the earlier pessimistic forecast.

For one thing, the Sino-Soviet dispute has resulted in a competition between Moscow and Peking in both Asia and Africa that tends to be mutually neutralizing.

And the early pretensions of the Africans and Asians concerning non-alignment are turning out to be sincere policies equally directed at east and west. None of the governing national socialism movements has yet been captured by either Moscow or Peking. But, even if stability and independence from Communism are on the way or have arrived in these two great continents, there remains the other nagging question: will these new countries respect the norms of law and order in international relations, and, more specifically, will they discipline themselves?

This concern was encouraged by the Afro-Asian reaction in 1961 to India's blatant use of force in swallowing Goa. No voice of criticism was raised in the United Nations, by African and Asians, and action was effectively blocked. India was treated with fraternal understanding, a reaction reinforced by the fact that Goa was part of Portugal's detested empire.

Until two weeks ago, the impression has remained that the Africans and Asians thought they were a law unto themselves.

The first significant test of their attitude came in security council consideration of a complaint from Malaysia that Indonesia had invaded its sovereign territory. Doubts about the charges were quickly removed when Indonesia candidly admitted the deed and openly discussed its hopes to crush the neighbor.

Morocco and the Ivory Coast, the only representatives of the Afro-Asian world on the security council, joined seven other members in voting for a resolution "deploring" Indonesia's attack. Their action was the more impressive because it was taken in the face of a tough diplomatic fight by the Indonesians and a Soviet Union veto.

But, before anyone waxes sanguine, it must be emphasized that this is just one straw in the wind. A lot of other significant straws lie ahead. For example, there is in the Congo the first test of a regional organization's strength to wrestle with the question of tribal chaos and Communist interference in the internal affairs of an African state.

The first reactions of the organization of African unity has, unfortunately, left the impression that Western colonialism or "neo-colonialism" still appears a greater evil than Communist exploitation in African eyes, and that sovereignty is a principle to be applied selectively if the leadership of a country is unpopular with its neighbors.

There is the problem of Cyprus, which Archbishop Makarios, president of the troubled island, hopes will be handled at the forthcoming general assembly in a way that will give him a free hand to resolve his troubles with the Turkish minority. It would be the height of irresponsibility if the Afro-Asian majority succumbed to the sovereignty arguments of the archbishop and took this delicate security matter out of the hands of the security council, substituting an emotional carte blanche for the present net of tangled agreements and constraints.

No nation, obviously, has the right to ask another to show more respect than it does to the principles of the U.N. charter. The misbehavior of the old powers on this score leaves latitude for judging the Africans and the Asians. On this comparative basis, however, the prospects seem good for a relatively responsible reaction to most of the matters that count.

Life and Letters

Men of Mystery

By PHILIP TOYNBEE,
from London

WE LIVE, we are told, in an age of status-symbols—as if man had ever lived in any other kind of age. Reflecting on the British community in the brilliant light of this discovery it does seem that we have achieved a grading of our occupations which is more subtle yet more precise than that of any other modern nation. It is in the professions that this can be best illustrated though I'm sure that equally ingenious gradations of esteem are observed in factories and offices, on the land and in business.

Doctors are inferior if they use the accepted title of their profession, for it means, almost certainly, that they are mere general practitioners; specialists prefer to be called "Mr." It is smarter to be a barrister than to be a solicitor; and even the judges bifurcate into the (inferior) county courts and the (chie) high courts and circuits. It is socially smarter to be in the navy than in the RAF, and still smarter to be an officer in a guards regiment. Oxford and Cambridge dons are more than one up on the lecturers of Liverpool or London. And where, in all this, do writers come? And how do they figure in their own and public esteem?

During the high period of English intellectual francophilia—roughly the years of the last war—it used to be lamented that we never attained the general distinction and acclaim which is awarded to writers and artists in France. It is true that in 1944 I witnessed a violent demonstration against Picasso's pictures on the first occasion that he ever exhibited in the Salon—the French equivalent of our Royal Academy. But when I told a francophil friend about this he explained that this only went to show how keenly interested the French were in their own great artists.

Yet it is true, I think, that an equivalent to the present position of André Malraux would be inconceivable in this country. Malraux was a highbrow novelist and art-critic of very great distinction, and he is now responsible for all French culture under General de Gaulle. Whichever party wins the coming elections it is unthinkable that Sir Herbert Read will be given an equivalent role to play.

Yet the English writer is not, as he so often loves to imagine himself, a hated and despised outcast from English society. It is true that all but a very few have difficulty in earning their livings by writing books or poetry alone. It is true that famous writers receive far fewer honors than obscure politicians and party-minded businessmen. It is true that to be a writer is not considered to be a member of any of the recognized professions—members of which, for example, are required as the givers of references on official applications.

But against all these minor diminutions of our status we should always remember the deeply-festering awe of the average layman when he learns that the boarded and tippy back in the corner of the room is "a writer." There is, I'm sure, a magic aura in the title which neither doctor nor lawyer—nor even specialist or barrister—can quite command. And we should remember that this richly rewarding sense of mystery would vanish at once if the disabilities we complain of were to be removed. It is just because our official status is so vague and imponderable that we can still pretend to be magicians, or members of some occult mystery religion.

In fact the secret which most writers are desperately anxious to conceal is that they are like other men and their occupation closely resembles a great many other occupations. Personally I wouldn't exchange my own form of lifemanship for any other.

Labor Jettisons Principles to Win Votes

By Colonist Correspondent EDWIN ROTH, from London

Would race riots in Britain follow a Labor victory? This immensely emotional question now belongs to the British election battle.

Officially, the Labor party now has the same immigration policy as the Tories: that immigration into Britain from Commonwealth countries must be limited and controlled.

But until only a few days ago, the Labor party—because of its socialist tradition—advocated completely free, unlimited, uncontrolled immigration from all Commonwealth countries. This was a tremendous electoral mistake.

Unofficially, the Tories are spreading the election slogan: "If you want a Nigger neighbor—Vote Labor!"

Since the election campaign started, many Conservative newspapers have printed long articles about colored immigrants, expressing the pious hope that the race problem would not become an election issue.

These same articles recall, of course, how the Labor party fought in the House of Commons against the law controlling Commonwealth immigration—and all the many serious, difficult social problems of colored immigrants are deliberately played up.

The Independent-Conservative London Evening Standard—a Beaverbrook newspaper—helps the Tory campaign with a carefully prepared series of sensational news features about colored immigrants.

This series gives the Evening Standard the opportunity for plastering all London and southern England with large posters showing a Negro family beside the hugely printed words, "Immigrants of London."

"Giant versions of these same posters ride throughout London and southern England on this newspaper's many delivery trucks."

These posters are not officially part of the Tory campaign. But by the "coincidence" of flooding London and southern England during the election battle with posters showing colored immigrants, the Beaverbrook corporation makes some amends to the Tories for the damage it did when it fought Prime Minister "Macmillan" because he wanted to take Britain into the European Common Market.

Until 1962, every citizen of a Commonwealth country could immigrate freely into Britain, and immediately enjoy all the rights of a British citizen. Because of this free immigration, about 700,000 colored people are living in Britain today, most of them from the West Indies and from Pakistan.

This colored population is not distributed throughout Britain, but concentrates in large "colonies" in a few London working-class districts, and in the industrial areas of central and northern England.

Several districts have become "British Harlems."

Because the unlimited, uncontrolled immigration from the Commonwealth caused enormous social problems, the Conservative government controlled and limited it for the first time by a new law in 1962.

No other British Commonwealth country allows uncontrolled immigration from other Commonwealth countries—not even from Britain.

But the Labor party fought furiously in the House of Commons against this law, which must be renewed every year. Under Hugh Gaitskell it voted against this law in 1962, and under Harold Wilson against its renewal in 1963.

Until September 1964, the Labor party said Commonwealth immigration should be controlled only by agreement with the Commonwealth governments. This is impossible, as it would mean that Caribbean, Asian and African Commonwealth governments would take on themselves the political stigma of refusing their citizens the right to emigrate.

But in its official manifesto for the present election battle, the Labor party—not wishing to lose the election on this issue—declares for the first time that the control of Commonwealth immigration is necessary.

According to this manifesto, a Labor government would leave the present Commonwealth immigration law in force "until agreement with the Commonwealth governments is reached."

This is a complete reversal of policy.

No doubt the overwhelming majority of Britons does not want free immigration of colored people. Even the most dedicated socialists don't deny the vast social problems caused by colored immigrants. Millions of Britons are far more influenced by these problems than by most political issues.

Transport Minister Ernest Marples declared at an election meeting: "Immigration is a major issue of this campaign." In their fight, the Tories try to convince all voters that a Labor government would permit uncontrolled colored immigration. This battle is especially fierce in Smethwick, an industrial town near Birmingham, which has become the national symbol of the color issue.

Since 1945, Smethwick's Labor MP has been the intellectual Patrick Gordon-Walker, who was Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations in Clement Attlee's Labor government. If the Labor party comes to power, he will become Foreign Secretary. But the color question endangers his parliamentary seat.

In Smethwick live thousands of colored immigrants. They are so hated by the whites, that this year Smethwick's town council was conquered by the Conservatives against all national trends.

Peter Griffiths, the Conservative candidate fighting Gordon-Walker, is leader of the town council's Tory majority. As a headmaster who demands special classes for colored immigrant children, he is fighting his entire campaign on the color issue.

He has declared publicly: "Smethwick rejects the idea of a multiracial society." He maintains that a Labor victory would cause race riots.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home was asked on television whether or not he repudiated Griffiths—and tried hard to evade giving a straight answer. After the television program, he told reporters that no Conservative candidate should promote racialism. But he pointed out that without the Conservative law which was opposed by the Labor party, a further 300,000 immigrants would have entered Britain.

On the same day, a Smethwick Conservative town councilman named Flannery, one of Griffiths' most prominent local supporters, wrote in a Smethwick newspaper:

"Having a huge number of children, the West Indians could in less than half a century outnumber us English, and with one man, one vote, they could do something Hitler could not do—take over this country."

This was reprinted in large newspapers with national circulation.

Every issue causing passionate public interest could decide the election battle in its last few days. The Tories hope that the emotional, explosive issue of colored immigrants may be decisive.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME
Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling, and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by minor irritation or muscle fatigue. That's the time to take Dettol's Kidney Pills. Dettol's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve the condition which can often cause backache and dull feeling. Then you feel better, not better, well better. Get Dettol's Kidney Pills now. Look for the blue box with the red band at all drug counters. You can depend on Dettol's.

Quotable Quotes

It has been demonstrated... that in certain industries and occupations a positive correlation exists between discontentment and high productivity.—Joan Woodward.

I would much rather people were worked up about unimportant issues than not worked up at all.—Jo Grimond, leader of Britain's Liberal Party.

Today's so-called angry young men have an inner itch, and nobody to scratch it.—Dr. Kurt Hahn.

If there are any who think we have hit on a peak—that we can stand pat or keep cool—that we have reached the promised land—they had better get out of the way because they will be run over by a marching America.—President Johnson.

BACKGROUND

Wide Open Spaces Largely Inaccessible

B.C. Rich in Parklands, But...

By IAN STREET

From the air the unpeopled spaces of central and northern B.C. seem practically limitless. Looking at them it seems impossible that we in this favored corner of the continent will ever run out of wilderness.

We take hope from the fact that, as Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan pointed out again this week, B.C. has four acres per capita reserved for park use.

This is much higher than any other part of Canada. We have 215 provincial parks consisting of well over 6,400,000 acres, and throughout the province there are some 2,000 land reserves with more being added each year.

Two important overall factors must, however, be taken into account.

Nearly half of our total park acreage is contained within boundaries of two huge provincial parks. Tweedsmuir Park, in the Bella Coola-Burns Lake district, totals 2,400,000 acres, and Wells Gray Park in the vicinity of Clearwater accounts for another 1,300,000 acres.

Both lie far from the centres of population, and for the present at least, access remains a major problem.

CAPITAL REPORT

Also, most British Columbians—74 per cent, to be precise—live huddled together in the lower mainland and on southern Vancouver Island.

The result is that while we are the most fortunate of people, in terms of parks and park reserves, B.C. still has an acute park problem.

It doesn't matter if, as Mr. Kiernan has said, that 50 per cent of B.C. will remain perpetual wilderness.

His reasoning is based upon the fact that vast sub-alpine and alpine tracts will never support a forest economy but could make attractive playgrounds for people anxious to escape from hot and dusty cities.

Mr. Kiernan himself, however, is well aware of the acute shortage of parks providing outdoor recreation within easy reach of the main centres of population.

That is why he is pushing for new legislation at the session opening just over three months from now that would enable municipalities to co-operate in formation of a regional park authority.

Mr. Kiernan has pledged government participation in both capital cost of acquiring new parklands and development over a 10-year period.

The Capital Region Planning Board here has suggested a 50-50 split between B.C. and the municipalities on costs of regional parks.

But the minister, no doubt with an eye on the lower mainland where a similar sharing scheme would also go into effect, suggested with some firmness that 25 per cent would be a more reasonable government contribution.

It's most unlikely that municipalities will be successful in obtaining a higher contribution because—like the new legislation to permit regional parks—whatever is agreed to here would have to apply throughout B.C. And that could become expensive.

The CRPB put a $1,000,000 price tag on the dozen park sites it recommended in and around Greater Victoria.

That really isn't a great deal of money for governments when purchase and development (which wasn't included in the $1,000,000 figure) is spread over 10 years.

The time element is vital.

Anyone who tried to get into Vancouver on one of those rare warm Sundays last summer and found a park service truck blocking the roadway and "full-up" signs out can testify to that.

Mr. Kiernan says we have 10 years at most to acquire the regional park area we need. That is probably a generous estimate.

If we don't get them before the land is chopped up for housing development and shopping centres there's every chance in the world that we'll never get them.

Then all we can hope for is development of some kind of fantastic rocket car that will allow us to whisk the family off for a picnic in Tweedsmuir Park.

Canada's Defence Policy

More Arms, Fewer Men

By DAVE McINTOSH
From Ottawa

By the end of August this figure fell to 118,513 with 20,276 in the navy, 48,014 in the army and 50,223 in the RCAF.

Recruiting fell off to such an extent, in fact, that the navy, for example, was obtaining fewer than the 200 men it needs each month to maintain a strength of around 20,000. The navy recruited only 169 in June, 208 in July and 176 in August.

Though the RCAF is the biggest of the three services, the army now is drawing the most recruits.

In July, 405 men enlisted in the army compared to 340 in the air force and in August the comparative figures were 436 and 363.

Defence Minister Hellyer has said he plans to increase expenditures on equipment to 25 per cent of the defence budget compared with, in the case of the army, a current rate of about 16 per cent.

One means chosen to do this is to lop some 10,000 personnel off the rolls in the next year or two, though some authorities maintain the reduction should be about 20,000 personnel to have any significant effect.

Colombia Holds British Ship

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI)—Press dispatches Thursday reported the detention in the offshore San Andres Islands of the British motorship Lady Alice, alleged to have been engaged in illegal fishing.

The Lady Alice was reported under charter to a Canadian, Robert Kase, accused of lobster fishing in Colombian waters. Colombian law requires such fishing to be carried out by Colombian citizens.

UBC Director Going to India

VANCOUVER (UPI)—Dr. John K. Friesen, director of the University of British Columbia's extension department, has been named director of a three-year Colombo Plan project at the University of Rajasthan in India.

Dr. Friesen will leave Vancouver Oct. 10 to direct the initial phase of the $180,000 project aimed at developing a pilot extension department.

Province Ships More Lumber

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shipments of lumber out of B.C. in the first eight months of this year reached 1,500,000,000 board feet—up 100,000,000 from the same period last year. However shipments for August were down 9,000,000 board feet, to 167,400,000. The best customers continue to be the United Kingdom, Japan and the U.S. Atlantic coast area.

Industry Needed

SMITHERS (CP)—Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Central British Columbia urgently requires diversified industrial development.

Fisher Named Firm Director

VANCOUVER—Dr. J. V. Fisher has been appointed a director and financial and economic adviser of Commonwealth Trust Company. It was announced Thursday.

Dr. Fisher has served as Agent-General for British Columbia in Britain and among many other posts, has been economic adviser and co-ordinator of finance for the province of B.C.

Kamloops Sets Building Pace

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Building permit values in Greater Kamloops have climbed to more than $9,000,000 for the first nine months of this year. Last year's total was $11,000,000 including a $3,000,000 department store and a $3,000,000 hospital project.

Bride-to-Be 13

Mother Dubious But Wedding 'Fixed'

KING'S LYNN, England (AP) — Gerry Cunningham, a 21-year-old United States airman from Philadelphia, had his first picture taken Thursday with his 13-year-old bride-to-be.

Cunningham announced his engagement to Rosalyn Montemonte nine days ago. Since then he has been away on a NATO exercise. Holding hands with his teen-age fiancée, the airman, who is a clerk at the U.S. Air Force base at Marham near here, told reporters: "This is not just a fly-by-night affair. We will get married. It will be lasting and forever. She does not act like a 13-year-old. She is very mature in behavior."

When he announced his engagement he said they would wait until Miss Montemonte is 16 before marrying. Her parents gave their consent to the marriage.

Gerry's mother is reported from Philadelphia as having said: "He'll never be able to convince me she is not a baby. But we have decided not to interfere."

Changes Ahead For Scouts

A new name, a new uniform and a new program for Boy Scouts between ages 14-18 is being currently discussed by Victoria Scout leaders following a visit last weekend from B. H. Mortlock of Ottawa Scout headquarters.

"A complete examination of the whole Boy Scout program and its place in the community, an up-dating in keeping with our changing society, is underway," the Colonist was told by Mr. Mortlock, director of relationships services.

Scouting does not have as much appeal for the teen-agers as it did 20 years ago. We have spent four years on research, finding the cause and providing the remedy."

The change would not affect those from age 11 to 14, with whom traditional Boy Scouting is as popular as ever.

A beret replaces the broad-brimmed hat. The shirt is sports style and the pants are either shorts or slacks, whichever the boy prefers."

DECIDE FOR SELVES

Mr. Mortlock also said, "The boys will decide more for themselves what they want to do, rather than have adults deciding for them."

"The new program is being experimented with across the country," said Mr. Mortlock, and he spoke of gliding clubs, alpine hiking groups, sailing regattas and marksmanship competitions now going on.

"However, the Scout motto and the Scout law won't change even if the new group adopts an extra motto," he said.

"In Canada today there are 282,000 boys in the movement serviced by 32,000 volunteer leaders," said Mr. Mortlock.

Martin Denies BCHIS to Blame For Delay in Transfer of DVA

Health Minister Eric Martin Thursday scored reports that the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service was to blame for the delay in transferring jurisdiction of Veterans' Hospital to Royal Jubilee Hospital. (See story, Page 14.)

"The federal government has not announced its intention of transferring the Veterans' Hospital to the provincial government," he said, "and besides, BCHIS does not make policy."

"The provincial government will make a policy decision if this hospital is offered to the province," he added, "and in turn will make the decision as to its ownership and management."

An Ottawa report earlier said Dr. J. N. Crawford, director-general of treatment services for the veterans affairs department, felt Royal Jubilee Hospital should take over Veterans' Hospital here.

"Dr. Crawford was expressing a wish beyond his prerogative to carry out," said Mr. Martin.

"I am fully aware of the attitude of the veterans, who prefer the administration of the hospital to remain as it is," Mr. Martin said, "particularly as I am a member of the Royal Canadian Legion."

"We will cross the bridge with respect to transfer if and when the federal government decides to give up ownership."

Wages Rise

PARIS (Reuters) — French workers will get a 2.52 per cent wage increase next Thursday with the first increase in 15 months in the national guaranteed minimum wage.

Appeal's Residential Drive Given Substantial Start

The United Appeal on its first day of the residential campaign, Thursday, Oct. 3, reached $51,635.05—12.6 per cent of the $410,000 objective.

RALLY SUNDAY

Canvassers have been invited to a campaign rally Sunday at which they will also see a film, courtesy of the Rank organization and of the theatre staff and management who are donating their time.

Selections by HMCS Naden band will precede a premiere performance of the film Nothing But the Best, starring Alan Bates.

Meanwhile, reports on another collection front for the Greater Victoria campaign show good progress. Federal civil servants have donated more than $4,000 to date, one-sixth of their $23,000 goal.

Lawyer's Advice

Couldn't Recall Answers

SASKATOON (CP) — H. L. Gjosund testified Thursday in Queen's Bench court that he deliberately avoided direct answers to questions at a Saskatchewan Securities Commission hearing after his counsel said "they couldn't do anything to us for not remembering."

Mr. Gjosund made the comment at the trial of Dr. M. C. Shumlatcher, Regina, and Thomas Fawcett, Ottawa, on charges of conspiring to defraud the public through dealings of seven companies between 1954 and 1961.

He said Shumlatcher told him and other salesmen for Western Bond and Share Corp., prior to a 1958 securities commission hearing, that the men need fear no repercussions if they failed to remember.

AVOIDED ANSWERS

Mr. Gjosund, also former secretary-treasurer of Columbia Metals Exploration, testified that as a result he avoided giving answers to some questions at the hearing by saying he could not remember.

The two companies were among the seven named in the indictment.

Mr. Gjosund said he and other salesmen at first turned down Shumlatcher's suggestion that they should be represented by counsel. However, at a second visit Shumlatcher said Walter Luboff, general manager of Columbia Metals, would pay his fees and the salesmen then agreed to "go along with" his proposal.

"NO WORRY"

Mr. Gjosund said Luboff told the salesmen the company had an agreement with the Ford Motor Co., and Columbia "wouldn't have to worry" about financing development work.

"Dr. Shumlatcher told us the word agreement wasn't what he had understood it was—that it wouldn't help us with the construction or development work," said Mr. Gjosund. He said this was the first he had known of this.

An indication of the complexity of the trial, which was expected to last some time, was given when crown counsel N. L. Mathews introduced documents which transferred mining claims obtained by Shumlatcher and Luboff to different companies in exchange for cash and shares. Mr. Mathews said several of the documents would be clarified by later evidence.

WELCOME NEWS

Mr. Justice D. C. Disbrey said he welcomed this news. "Quite frankly, a lot of this has left me a long way down the road."

Earlier Robert Bode of Birmingham, Mich., manager of mining properties for Ford Motor Company, identified a three-year agreement between the company and C. A. L. Horn, former Saskatchewan deputy minister of mineral resources, for exploration of Ford-owned property in Northern Michigan.

Undersea Oil Coastal Aim

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eleven oil companies bid $36,600,000 Thursday for the right to drill for oil in submerged federal lands more than three miles off the coasts of Oregon and Washington.

It reflected the high hope that many hold for discovering a new oil basin.

Oregon's geologist, Hollis Dale, said that for his state it "could be the biggest single thing to affect the state in a long, long time. This action could promote a level of industry never before reached in Oregon."

Banks Terse In Interview

TORONTO — Harold C. (Hal) Banks, fugitive deposed head of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada, was found by a Toronto Star reporter aboard a union-owned yacht at Brooklyn, N.Y.

Reporter Robert Reguly wrote in a copyrighted story that it took him just two hours to locate Banks, wanted by Canadian police since July. Banks faces a five-year penitentiary term for conspiring to beat up a rival union organizer.

Reguly said the 55-year-old Banks was sitting alone on the yacht. Nearby was his familiar white Cadillac, with Quebec licence plates.

The reporter said Banks told him: "I don't want to speak to you. Beat it."

Reguly said that when he returned to the yacht with a camera an hour later and took pictures, six men chased him away and one struck him on the forehead.

LONDON — A pub sign with the picture of the Prince of Wales has been taken down because it looked too much like the real Prince of Wales. The pub named the Prince of Wales recently put up a bright new sign outside its premises.

Then someone walked that the sign resembled the real Prince of Wales — 15-year-old Prince Charles — with a Rolling Stones haircut.

NEW YORK — Mrs. Clare Beattie Lane's Sunday column in the New York Herald Tribune has been discontinued. Mrs. Lane said the column was withdrawn because she was "too friendly" to Senator Barry Goldwater.

VANCOUVER — Gordon Lynn was dealt a 12-year prison term for the theft of $38,000 in Unemployment Insurance funds, almost all of which still is missing. A string of convictions dating back to 1936 was cited by Chief Justice J. O. Wilson in sentencing the 47-year-old man after his conviction for armed robbery.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Robert Trumbull, 28, who said he hijacked $3,700 worth of drugs that someone else hid near Oakalla Prison, has been sentenced to 10 years in jail for possession of narcotics.

LONDON — A British official has been bound over to keep the peace for a year, accused of spying on girls in a bathroom. Prosecutors charged Wednesday that Raymond Alfred Dine-Hart, 50-year-old executive at the ministry of power, installed a peephole in the bathroom of a house which he let to young girls.

OTTAWA — English-speaking Leigh Smith, 28, is seeking recruits for an organization aimed at separation of the other nine provinces from Quebec. He is sure thousands of English-speaking Canadians will agree they are being "crucified" in the name of unity.

AMSTERDAM — The Dutch city of Amsterdam gave Edgar Langereis a choice—his Beanie wig or his job. An official said Langereis, 25, wore the wig on his street surveying job and "our people have to be representative." Langereis made the decision. Today he is unemployed.

PEORIA, Ill. — Two Illinois men born the same year with the same name are recovering together in the same hospital room from the same type of surgery performed by the same doctor. William L. Lynch of Havana and William E. Lynch of Peoria, both 81 and retired, are recovering from urological surgery at St. Francis Hospital in Peoria.

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. — Former vice-president Richard Nixon drew boos and cat-calls from more than 2,000 Republicans at a Long Island rally every time he urged support for re-election of Senator Kenneth Keating, who has refused to endorse Senator Goldwater.

CAIRO, U.A.R. — The Egyptian newspaper Al Akhbar says it received a letter from Frank Sinatra denying he ever contributed money to Israel.

CALGARY — Mrs. Barbara Ganss, aldermanic candidate in the Oct. 14 civic election, was remanded to Oct. 15 when she appeared in magistrate's court on a charge of stealing a suit.

SAO PAULO, Brazil — A "severe watch" will be kept on French ex-premier Georges Bidault to make sure he "behaves himself" while President De Gaulle is here Oct. 14 and 15. Bidault, once a supporter of de Gaulle, turned against him when de Gaulle gave Algeria back to the Arabs. He is now considered an arch-enemy of the 73-year-old French leader.

OLDHAM, England — Wanted: A house with a built-in ghost. Mr. and Mrs. Stan Partington are haunting real estate agents in hopes one of them can scare up a home with a ghostly view. Partington said he's just caught up with the spirit of ghost watching.

LONDON — The grandson of the founder of the Boy Scout movement has stopped managing two liquor stores and plans to take his seat in the House of Lords. He is Lord Baden-Powell, 37. His grandfather founded the Boy Scout movement in 1908 and the Girl Guides in 1910.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller has lost a fight for custody of the four children she gave up to marry the governor of New York. State Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Magliardi said he found no grounds for altering the Sun Valley, Idaho, divorce terms of April 1, 1963, awarding primary custody to the former husband, Dr. James S. Murphy.

It's Also Bare Profit

GOSHEN, Ind. (AP)—Jenny Snyder of Goshen told police the way he lost $300 was like this:

These two women came to his house and asked to borrow some salt, and one of them grabbed $800 from his bedroom, and he grabbed her but she spilled out of her clothes while dropping $300, and the two women jumped into their auto and left, but the bare one tossed two $100 bills from the car window, and that's a net loss of $300 as anybody can plainly see.

Air Raids Couldn't Close It

But Girlie Clubs Shut Famous Windmill

LONDON (AP)—London's girlie strip clubs Thursday succeeded where Adolf Hitler's bombers failed. They rang down the curtain on the capital's oldest nude show, the Windmill Theatre.

Its non-stop performances during the German air raids of the Second World War earned it the proud motto "we never closed."

Sheila Van Damm, managing director of the 32-year-old theatre, told reporters that, due to falling attendance, she has been forced to sell out to a cinema firm.

The theatre, known to hundreds of thousands of Commonwealth and U.S. servicemen for its high-kicking chorus line and statuesque nudes, will show movies after Oct. 31.

"We began to lose business almost immediately after the strip clubs opened in London in 1956," Miss Van Damm told a press conference.

"The girls in the clubs can move. As a theatre our nudes were bound by law to stand still."

Miss Van Damm said she had broken the sad news to her 28 beautiful Windmill girls that very day.

"It was very sad. They all cried on my shoulder. After all, we've been more like a family than a show. The girls thought of the Windmill as home."

She said she hoped to keep some of the Windmill girls in business, perhaps as a touring troupe of dancers.

"I hope to find everyone a job, then I'll look for one myself," she said.

Yes, Summer is About Over

Icemaker Tony Gutoik had his rocks out to cool Wednesday and yesterday started flooding of the eight sheets at the Victoria Curling Club. They'll be ready for next weekend and the mixed bonspiel which opens season on Thanksgiving Day weekend. Curling will start next Friday evening and there is still room for a few more rinks in the five-event bonspiel — if entries are hurried. — (Bud Kinsman)

'Angel' Gives Club Lift

United at Post on Saturday

By ROBIN JEFFREY

Victoria United, with its first game of the Pacific Coast Soccer League season against Vancouver Canadians Saturday, received an unexpected boost in the bank account yesterday through the generosity of an old-age pensioner.

United manager Fred Magee "He wanted to know all about me E. P. McLean, an old the team," Magee says, "so we smoker partner, while in town and had a drink. After yesterday, we'd talked for a while, he asked me how we were doing financially.

"I told him we were fairly steady but that it's always a bit of struggle."

At this, Mr. McLean produced his cheque-book and wrote the club a cheque for $100.

United looks on the gift as a good omen—and against Canadians, United needs all the good omens it can get.

The Vancouver club, mainly because of all-star inside-left Normie McLeod, has not been beaten here since United's first season in the league. McLeod has been United's nemesis on nearly every occasion.

THERE ARE MANY

The most impressive instance of McLeod's power over United came two seasons ago when Canadians beat the Victoria team, 3-2, on a rainy autumn day at Royal Athletic Park. McLeod scored all three goals, the winner with only seconds left.

Last season, his record was almost as impressive. United officials recall with a shudder that the mercurial McLeod was instrumental in stopping them three times.

GEORGE GETS JOB

Saturday, United will rely on Veteran George Paul to halt McLeod. Paul will partner Ron Jenkin at wing-half for the Victoria club with Bill Hamilton at center-half.

Bill Cameron, Martin Taylor, Ced Robb and Len Anderson are the reserves.

Canadians do not plan to start Neil McEachnie and Ken Ferrier. Both will travel with the team, but Ferrier's left-wing position will be filled by John Gardiner and Jack Jones will play in McEachnie's center-forward spot.

Lieutenant Governor G. R. Pearkes will perform the opening kick-off at 2 p.m. at Royal Athletic Park.

In first division of the Victoria and District League Sunday, Price and Smith meets Gorge at Heywood Avenue. Esquimalt tackles Brodie at Bullen, Navy plays Canadian Scottish at Naden, and Victoria Wests take on Kickers at the Royal Athletic Park.

In the second division, Gorge plays Oak Bay Marina at Central, University tangles with Wanderers at the university, and Oak Bay takes on Dunlop at Windsor. All games start at 2:00 p.m.

Today's high school soccer action has Esquimalt at Victoria High and Mount Douglas at Oak Bay in 4 p.m. kickoffs. Tonight's feature game at Royal Athletic Park has Clearmont playing Mount View. Kickoff is 7:30.

Balding Cards 67 In Opening Round

Al Balding of Toronto and Jack McGowan of Toledo found the tricky San Joaquin Country Club course to their liking yesterday and shot five-under-par 67s to share a two-stroke lead in the Fresno Open golf tournament.

Both had the advantage of playing their rounds early before scores began edging up, mainly because of spike-scuffed greens. Only 10 players managed to break par 72 on the 7,181-yard layout, and most of them were early starters.

Bob McAllister was next with 69. Gardner Dickinson, Charlie Sifford and Jerry Steelsmith were at 71 while tied at 71 were Bob Bruno, Doug Sanders and George Archer.

Canada remained in a three-place tie with Cuba yesterday in the Olympic Games qualifying basketball playoff by defeating Malaysia, 88-45.

Result left Canada tied with Cuba at 4-2. Mexico and Australia are virtually assured of being two of the four teams trying to join 12 nations previously qualified for the Games. South Korea and Thailand are 3-3.

VANCOUVER CANUCKS yesterday announced the acquisition of defenceman Bob Flager.

were held to six hits by Denny McLain, a 20-year-old right-hander who had won only three games previously this season.

It was the first time in 22 doubleheaders this season that the Yanks had been swept. They had won 12 and split eight of the first 20.

AFTER 24 INNINGS

Jim Coker, a catcher purchased from the minor leagues a few weeks back, started for the Reds as they ended a run-scoring famine which had extended to 34 innings before they scored in the second inning against Pittsburgh Pirates last night.

Coker had a home run and two hits as the Reds won, 5-4, to move within a half game of the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

He singled in their first run, doubled and scored in the fourth inning and then broke a 3-3 tie with his first home run.

San Francisco Giants, who can still tie for the pennant, stayed alive behind Juan Marichal, defeating Houston Colts, 6-3. A two-run single by Willie Mays and run-scoring singles by Willie McCovey and Tom Haller

GET ONE-HITTER

Orioles staved off mathematical elimination by getting a one-hit pitching job from Dave McNally to blank Washington Senators, 2-0. McNally had his no-hitter going until the seventh, when Don Lock hit a two-out double.

After blowing the first game when they took a 2-1 lead into the ninth inning, Yankees again couldn't find the hitting and lost to the Red Sox, 4-1. Yankees' first baseman, Mickey Vernon, hit a two-run home run in the fourth inning.

After blowing the first game when they took a 2-1 lead into the ninth inning, Yankees again couldn't find the hitting and

ARRANGE PLAYOFF

CINCINNATI (UPI)—General manager Bill DeWitt of Cincinnati Reds won a toss yesterday and if his club finishes in a first-place tie with St. Louis Cardinals for the National League championship, the best-of-three playoff will open here Monday.

And if the Cincinnati-St. Louis playoff takes place, games will be telecast by the National Broadcasting Company. It announced Thursday that it had secured television rights.

Another Lion Breaks Loose

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tackle Bill Frank, a mainstay of the tough offensive line of the British Columbia Lions, Thursday was fined a total of $350 following an early morning fracas with police.

His teammate, tackle Lonnie Dennis, escaped with a sharp rap to the nose.

NO ASSAULT CHARGE
Frank, 26 years old and six-foot-five, weighing 280 pounds, spent several hours in jail before posting $200 bond. Later, he was fined $350 for impaired driving. A charge of assaulting a policeman was withdrawn.

That was only the beginning of his troubles. Lions fined him an additional $500 and placed him on a strict curfew.

It was the second such incident for the Lions in recent weeks. On Sept. 12, defensive end Dick Fouts was charged with impaired driving but pleaded not guilty.

Fouts' case has not been heard, but Lions fined him $250 for conduct detrimental to football.

Police said they checked a car in the downtown area early Thursday when they noticed it swerving back and forth peeling rubber.

Frank, the driver, at first declined to talk, then demanded "Where's your warrant?"

Five passengers — two men and three women — left the car and Frank was told he was under arrest.

Frank, police said, resisted and they handcuffed him to the steering wheel and called for reinforcements.

Dennis, identified by police as one of the passengers who had left, returned and tried to calm Frank. It was then he was butted by his teammate. The club said later his nose was not broken.

Both men were signed to five-year contracts by the Lions last year.

The police report said Const. Ron Foy, five-foot-10 and 180 pounds, entered the car and unlocked Frank, who told him:

"If you come in here, I'll slaughter you."

BIT VIOLENT
Foy said Frank butted him in the head and kicked him.

Four policemen bundled the big tackle into the patrol wagon. The police report did not give the identity of the third man involved or of the three women who were with them.

Frank, who came to the Lions in 1962, is described in club literature as a future all-star.

"In the short time he has been in the league, Bill has earned the reputation of being one of the toughest and roughest and most respected line-men in the Canadian Football League."

Dennis is in his fifth year. He was a Western Conference all-star and all-Canadian in 1963.

He is a former Los Angeles policeman.

Canadian Women Two Strokes Back

PARIS (CP) — Catherine Lacoste, 19-year-old daughter of former French Davis Cup tennis ace Rene Lacoste, shot 37-36-73 and the 40-36-78 fired by Joanne Goulet of Regina. The third member of the Canadian team, Betty Cole, shot 37-43-80.

In a tie at 154 were the Belgian Australian and New Zealand teams.

The Canadian team was fourth.

Miss Lacoste was the only one of 75 players from 26 countries to finish the par-72 over the 9,333-yard St. Germain course near Paris.

CANADIAN CLOSE
This gave her the lead in the individual competition, one stroke ahead of Canada's Gail Harvey, American Barbara Fry White and Britain's Bridget Jackson.

Each national team entered three players for the four-day, 72-hole championship, being played for the first time but expected to become a biennial fixture. The two best individual scores count for the team total.

147 FOR FRANCE
Miss Lacoste's 72 and a 75 turned in by Brigitte Varangot gave France a 147 total. The other member of the French team, Claudine Cros, shot a 76.

Miss White's 72 was coupled with the 76 of Carol Sorenson, who won the British women's amateur title last week. Barbara McIntire, U.S. women's champion, shot an 80.

Britain matched the U.S. total of 148 with a 73 by Miss Jackson and a 75 by Marley Spearman. Ruth Porter shot an 80.

Slip Away and Recross Border

CFL Anglers Lose Many Big Ones

By DICK BACON

MONTREAL (UPI) — Fishermen delight in spinning tales about the "one that got away," but it would be downright embarrassing for most Canadian football league coaches to explain how they allowed some of the "big ones" they caught to slip off the hook.

A hasty survey shows 22 players in the National Football League and 26 in the American Football League who at one time or another belonged to Canadian clubs.

The quality of those 48 players is enough to make a shout-heard coach cry in anguish over what might have been. What greying, ulcerated Canadian-coach wouldn't like to have a defensive front wall comprised of Bill Quinlan (240) and Ed O'Bradovich (255) at the ends, Bill Glass (255) and Bob Gain (280) at the tackles with speedy, hard-hitting Dale McIntire (230) as the middle linebacker?

GOOD FOURSTONE

Well, they had their chance once, but they won't get another one.

Coaches lament the scarcity of deep backs but they would be hard-pressed to find a better foursome than Bobby Lee Thompson (Montreal), Jimmy Carr (Montreal), J. C. Caroline and Duane Wood. The Alouettes had three of them at one time while the Hamilton Tiger-Cats dropped Wood. All but Wood are performing in the NFL while Wood is a figure in the Kansas City secondary.

For defensive bench strength, this mythical team could call on such Joe Jelacic (Ottawa-Montreal), Delva Allen (Toronto), Gerry Delucca (Toronto), Milt Graham (Ottawa), Jim Martin (Toronto) or even the versatile Cookie Gilchrist (Hamilton-Saskatchewan-Toronto) whom the Argos found could do everything but call signals.

FOR THE ATTACK

And there are enough former CFL chatters still kicking their heels in the AFL-NFL to form an offensive team that could score on anybody.

Venerable Tobin Rote (Toronto) seems to be the logical choice at quarterback, but if youth is required there is Jack Kemp (Calgary) or Baby Parilli (Ottawa) still the No. 1 signal caller for Boston Patriots, AFL eastern champions.

An what coach wouldn't covet

the problem of having to choose a backfield from a roster that included Gilchrist, Alex Webster (Montreal), John Henry Johnson (Calgary), Clarence Childs (Calgary), Carver Shannon (Winnipeg-Hamilton), Gerry McDougall (Hamilton-Toronto), Jim Colough (Montreal), Milt Fleming (Ottawa), Joe Hernandez (Toronto-Edmonton), Bobby Lee Thompson (Montreal), Bob Jeter (B.C.), Bo Dickinson (Montreal), Wray Carlton (Toronto), and Gino Capelletti (Sarnia).

For ends, this lucky coach would have such dependable ex-Winnipeg targets as Dave Kocurek (6-5, 225) and Willard Duvall (6-4, 225) or Art Powell (Toronto-Montreal) and Ernie Warlick (Calgary).

Up front, centre Jerry Strum (6-3, 245), last with the Sarnia Golden Bears; guards Mike Brizanovich (Ottawa) and McIntire; and tackles Norm Masters (Toronto), Milt Graham (Ottawa), Jim Martin (Toronto) and Jim Marshall (Saskatchewan) would delight any quarterback and/or coach.

On the off chance this squad had trouble scoring touchdowns, the coach could always call on such dependable field goal men as Martin or Capelletti. And if for some reason this team was forced to kick, Bobby Joe Green (Montreal) could get any team out of a hole.

Ex-Canadian coaching talent includes such tacticians as Pop Ivy (Edmonton), Hamp Pool (Toronto), Darrell Royal (Edmonton) and Peshead Walker (Montreal).

Cowichan Bay Sets Annual Coho Derby

Three daily $100 prizes, the Anchor Cafe Trophy and 12 merchandise prizes, including two hidden-weight awards, will be up for grabs in the Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's annual Thanksgiving coho derby.

It's a three-day affair which starts Saturday, Oct. 10 and continues with competitions the following Sunday and Monday for the $100 daily prize. Merchandise prizes will be awarded on an overall basis for the three days and the trophy will go to the angler weighing in the largest coho.

Fishing will start at dawn on each of the three days and all fish entered must be on the Government wharf at Cowichan Bay by 4:30 each afternoon.

Fishing area is all the waters of Cowichan Bay extending to a line drawn from Hatch Point on Vancouver Island on the east to Cape Koppel on Salt Spring Island, and all waters of Saanich Narrows to a line drawn from Bold Point to Oregan Point on the west.

Entry fee is $1 for each day fished, all fish must be caught on artificial lures to be eligible and no entrant may win more than one prize daily.

Race Issue, Safety

Sleeper Issues May Alter Johnson Status

By LOUIS HARRIS

Anxiety among white Americans over the race issue is rising in intensity. Coupled with this concern is an increase in worry about safety on the streets, which many people now relate to Negro outbreaks in northern cities this past summer.

Together, these are now twin sleeper issues entirely capable of altering the remarkable 63.37 per cent standing of President Lyndon Johnson in his race against Sen. Barry Goldwater.

In a just-completed survey of a carefully selected cross-section of American voters, these key findings emerged:

● Since August, the number of voters who feel the pace of civil rights progress is too fast has gone from 35 to 40 per cent.

● In the same period, the number who say they are more worried about safety on the streets now than they were a year ago has increased from 53 to 61 per cent.

The Harris Survey

● Of those who now support Senator Goldwater for the Presidency, 68 per cent, say they feel Negroes have "gotten out of hand," a phrase that has occurred repeatedly in surveys when people use their own words to describe their reaction to the civil rights movement.

● Critical to this election are the 27 per cent of Johnson voters who feel the same way about Negroes because they provide more than enough potential defections to change the final outcome.

● Out of the total electorate, 21 per cent believe President Johnson is too pro-Negro. However, 65 per cent do not think so, which means that white anxiety over civil rights has not yet been translated into votes for Goldwater.

In order to measure in depth the impact of the race issue in this campaign and to help determine the strength of the so-called "white backlash"—those voters, especially Democrats, whose vote may be influenced by their reaction to racial tensions—the Harris Survey constructed an index based on three criteria. These are: (1) the extent to which people feel the pace of civil rights progress is too fast; (2) their opposition to the civil rights bill; (3) their worry about violence on the streets.

'Backlash' Rating

People who expressed concern on all three counts were placed in a "high backlash" category; those concerned with two of the three were put in an "intermediate backlash" group; those who showed concern on none or only one of the three were placed in a "low backlash" group.

Here is the way American voters divide on this index:

	Total Voters	Goldwater	Johnson
	Per Cent	Per Cent	Per Cent
September—
Low backlash .....	64	31	75
Intermediate backlash ..	21	35	16
High backlash .....	15	34	9
August—
Low backlash .....	68	39	79
Intermediate backlash ..	25	46	18
High backlash .....	7	15	3

A sure sign of the increased intensity of feeling on racial issues is the fact that the number of people in the high category alone has doubled in a month's time. Part of this is a reflection of the growing number of people who think that the pace of civil rights is too fast.

In August, and again in September, voters were asked: "Compared to a year ago, do you personally feel more worried, less worried or not much different about your personal safety on the streets?"

SAFETY ON STREETS

	September	August
	Per Cent	Per Cent
More worried .....	61	53
Less worried .....	3	4
About same .....	33	38
Not sure .....	3	5

People were asked: "Do you feel that President Johnson and his administration have been too pro-Negro, or don't you feel this way?"

LBJ POLICY RATING

	Total Voters	Goldwater	Johnson
	Per Cent	Per Cent	Per Cent
LBJ too "pro-Negro" .....	21	43	8
LBJ not "too pro-Negro" ..	65	38	81
Not sure .....	14	19	11

The outcome of this election could hinge on the gap between the 8 per cent of Johnson voters who feel the President is "too pro-Negro" and the 27 per cent of his supporters whose reaction is that Negroes "have gotten out of hand."

Mr. Johnson could afford to lose that 8 per cent, for it would still leave him with a substantial lead in the election. However, if the 27 per cent should switch to Senator Goldwater, the outcome in November would be cast in doubt.

The Republican nominee has not made civil rights a frontal issue by trying to pin the "too pro-Negro" label on Mr. Johnson. In today's atmosphere, such a charge might backfire badly.

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama made a no-holds-barred campaign against civil rights earlier this year in the Maryland Democratic primary and in the short space of three weeks increased his vote from 31 to 43 per cent. But, then, Wallace was not seriously running for the Presidency, and Mr. Johnson wasn't on the ballot in that primary.

Nonetheless, the combination of civil rights and street safety forms the uneasy, unspoken issue of this 1964 election—one that cannot be taken for granted until the actual voting takes place.

Trees to Remain on Firm's New Site

background, and Mr. Morrison insisted extension of Finlayson Street be changed to save 100-year-old Sequoia. Property was formerly pasture for Tally-ho horses. — (Don Ryan)

Best Year Yet

Tourists Poured Into B.C. Despite Cool, Damp Summer

A cool, damp summer didn't prevent B.C. from having its best tourist year in 1964.

Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan announced Thursday that more than 415,000 Americans checked through border crossing points into B.C. by the end of August.

This is 12 per cent higher than last year. The national average increase in border crossings by Americans was 5.9 per cent.

Not all the tourist figures are in, but indications thus far are encouraging enough for the minister to predict that the previous record set in 1963 will be exceeded.

Pact Violates Cyprus Treaty

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday the agreement between Cyprus and Russia appears to violate the UN security Council's March 4 resolution and also the Cyprus independence treaty with Britain.

Mr. Martin said he hasn't yet seen the treaty but a summary indicates it is contrary to the peace-keeping resolution and the independence treaty.

Last year, according to the government financial and economic report issued in July, 3,800,000 tourists spent $150,000,000 in the province.

The figures on border crossings, said Mr. Kiernan, "show we are doing a good job."

"It also makes it clear from the tourists' point of view that the province's popularity continues to increase."

Fisheries Experts Unable to Agree

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada, the United States and Japan still are unable to agree on terms for renewal of the North Pacific fisheries treaty.

Negotiators for the three countries wound up a three-week conference here Thursday and reported that "complete agreement could not be reached at this time."

They intend to hold another conference "at some later date for the purpose of reaching final agreement." It probably will be held in Washington some time after the Nov. 3 U.S. presidential election.

Fisheries Minister Robichaud told the Commons that the parties are "very close to agreement" but some differences remain unresolved.

The main dispute is over the so-called "abstention clause" in the original treaty which restricts Japanese fishing on North America's side of the Pacific.

Japan has demanded that the clause be scrapped, Canada and the U.S. insist it must remain.

Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) said it was "very revealing" that the minister had not mentioned the abstention clause.

"I interpret this . . . to mean in effect that perhaps Canada has relaxed what the minister called the firm position of the government in these negotiations and we may very well end up with a treaty, if we finally get one, renegotiated in such a way that the abstention principle is watered down or adulterated or not referred to."

Casey Critical

DVA Control Switch Delayed by BCHIS

Transfer of jurisdiction of the Veterans' Hospital to the Royal Jubilee has been held up by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, hospital board chairman Joseph Casey said Thursday.

"We can't make a move without their (BCHIS) approval, and we haven't heard a word from them since they approached us six or seven months ago."

"CAME TO US"

"They came to us; we didn't go to them," Coun. Casey declared.

Coun. Casey was commenting on a report to a parliamentary committee there has been little progress in transferring DVA hospitals to local administration.

Dr. J. N. Crawford, director-general of treatment services for the DVA, told the committee he felt the Royal Jubilee should take over the veterans' hospital here as an active treatment centre with beds provided for veterans in need of active treatment.

EAGER TO START

"We would like to get started now," said Coun. Casey, "but we can't order the extra beds without the approval of the BCHIS."

"Maybe this fuss will bring the proposal alive again," he said.

Children's Book Tells All

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House is distributing a new children's book about a "typical American family" that lives in an apartment with 54 rooms and 16 baths.

President Johnson is the head of the family. The book says he "is a friendly man, active, quick-thinking, fast-moving; he knows and likes people, and people like and trust him."

His wife is named Lady Bird. She is "a friendly, unassuming dynamo of activity."

They have two daughters named Lynda Bird and Luci Baines. They have learned to be "independent, responsible and resourceful girls."

The family shares a two-storey apartment in a 132-room building called the White House. The book doesn't say so, but the Johnsons aren't ready to leave.

White House press secretary George E. Reedy has announced that the book was prepared for boys and girls who write each day for information about the executive mansion and its occupants. There have been 120,700 letters so far in 1964.

Reedy said "It is estimated the booklet will be responsive to some 70 per cent of the questions asked."

The handsome book was prepared for the White House "as a public service" by the Curtis Publishing Co. One of that firm's magazines is the Saturday Evening Post which is a supporter of Johnson in his election campaign against Sen. Barry M. Goldwater.

Bonded Stock is in the best shape ever.

Our whisky doesn't come in those old bottles anymore. Those fine old bottles have launched their last sip. We've designed these new containers for Bonded Stock. Plus matching new labels. And we age Bonded Stock longer now as well. This makes every drop just a little more mellow. One thing though, Bonded Stock's smooth lightness we don't change. Our blenders know a good thing when they taste it. Judging from the number of people who buy Bonded Stock, so does the rest of the country.

Treacherous Meeting

Occasionally calm Nallinat Bar, narrow passage to open Pacific one mile west of Cloose, is rated most treacherous on B.C. coast. When tide races out of lake at 10 and 12 knots, as shown here, and is met by mighty Pacific swells or storms, white wall of surf blocks passage at bar to anything larger than medium-sized tugboat or fishparker. Many a boat has crashed on whale-toothed rocks at centre right covered by high tide. Favorite spring fishing spot is just inside bar, but it's dicy fishing and not for tyres.—(Alec Merriman)

Hunting Rights

Gun Shots May Echo In House

The rifle shots that brought down six deer for Nanaimo Indians Clifford White and David Bob last year may echo in the B.C. legislature in the near future, pending the outcome of an appeal hearing in Victoria this week.

The Crown is seeking to appeal the judgement of Judge A. J. Swensky that Vancouver Island Indians have the right to hunt and fish over unoccupied lands throughout the season.

Counsel for the Indians, Thomas Berger, Thursday claimed the B.C. Game Act only restricts while men to hunting in season and the act does not apply to Indians.

ULTRA VIREX
"If this court holds that it does apply to Indians, then the act is ultra vires (beyond the powers of legal authority) because only the federal government can legislate for Indians."

Mr. Berger told the panel of five judges the only competent authority that could take away the aboriginal rights of the Indians to hunt and fish is the federal government.

"These rights were confirmed by a royal proclamation in 1763, and the grant of Vancouver Island to the Hudson's Bay Company in 1869 was not intended to take away those rights."

INCONSISTENT
"If it did, it would have been inconsistent with the Crown's policy in other colonies," said Mr. Berger.

"These rights are also supposed to be respected by the B.C. Game Act," he said.

Mr. Berger claimed the Indians did not give up their hunting and fishing rights when they sold their land to the Hudson's Bay Company because the document they signed guaranteed these rights.

NOT LEGAL
The Crown earlier argued the guarantee could not now be considered as a legal treaty because the Indians did not deal directly with the Crown, but with the Hudson's Bay Company.

Mr. Berger replied Thursday under early colonial law the Vancouver Island Indians had no right to give or sell their land to anyone but the Crown, so the Hudson's Bay Company must have been acting as agent for the Crown when the land deals were made.

Crown counsel T. G. Bowen-Colthurst indicated he would argue today that the provincial legislature has the power to pass a game act that would apply to Indians.

Mr. Justice M. W. Davey is presiding.

Munich: Fine meals in restaurants like these cost less than $2.00.

Rome: Sightseeing included in the KLM "$5-a-Day" plan.

Amsterdam: The Museum Hotel, a typical "$5-a-Day" hotel.

Tour Europe on KLM's amazing "u.s.$5-a-Day" plan. Read why it's best to start in friendly Amsterdam:

It's amazing, but true! You can actually tour 22 cities in Europe, including London, Paris and Rome, and spend no more than U.S. $5 a day for room, breakfast and sightseeing. KLM shows you how. You stay in clean, comfortable, conveniently-located hotels. You avoid expensive frills. Begin in hospitable Amsterdam and receive FREE—Ten Dutch Treats, Seven Special Introductions, and Unlimited Sightseeing!

1. A low-cost, $5-a-Day European tour is not for the tourist who demands the utmost in service and surroundings, who insists on staying at the very best hotels. It is for the unpretentious Canadian who is willing to live in the same style as that of the European tourist. The hotels that form part of the $5-a-Day system are clean, comfortable, and utterly respectable. They cater to families and to Europeans of all ages. But they lack frills. In some of these hotels, you'll have breakfast at the dining room table of the very European family that owns, operates and lives in the hotel. In many of these hotels, you'll have to share a bath with an adjoining room or rooms. In some, you'll find stairs only and no elevator. (Most European hotels are small.) But throughout your $5-a-Day tour, you'll encounter warmth, friendliness and a totally European outlook on life.

2. What you'll receive. For each of the cities on your tour, you'll receive a reservation at a carefully-selected budget class hotel. You'll also receive a breakfast for your $5-a-Day payment, and you'll receive—in each city—at least one, and in Amsterdam as many free sightseeing tours as you care to take. Your only additional cost will be the lunch and dinner which you yourself will purchase at any one of several recommended budget-priced restaurants, and personal expenses.

3. How to plan your vacation. A $5-a-Day trip is not an escorted tour. You plan your own itineraries, determine the number of days you will stay in each city, and also determine the dates on which you will depart and return. But a $5-a-Day tour is a prepaid tour—once you have made your $5-a-Day payment, you need pay nothing else in Europe—other than for lunches, dinners, transfers, and personal expenses.

4. Simply multiply by $5. To sign on for a $5-a-Day tour, stop in at your local Travel Agent or KLM office and choose your trip from any of the itineraries outlined in the KLM folder "Europe on $5-a-Day". All you have to do is to determine the number of days you wish to stay in each European city, then multiply the total number of days of your trip by $5 and pay the resulting sum to your Travel Agent or KLM office.

5. Make Amsterdam your European Gateway. You'll find Amsterdam an ideal starting point. From Amsterdam Airport, you have a choice of several flights every day to London, Paris, Hamburg and several per week to Rome. London and Paris are only an hour away. Rome, two hours and five minutes. Frankfurt, one hour.

6. A new KLM booklet containing complete, detailed information on how you can see Europe on $5 a day is available. It gives you facts about the cities you can visit, the hotels in which you stay—exactly what you get for your $5. Whether you have already decided that this is your year to see Europe, or you are still just thinking about it, you'll find this booklet invaluable. Check coupon below for your free copy.

7. Rely on your Travel Agent—he is an expert. Your Travel Agent will help you with all your travel arrangements. For detailed information on rates, hotels, fares, reservations, connections, tours, multi-lingual guides and interpreters, documents, and currencies, see your Travel Agent.

5. A Visit to the Fashion Home of Ferry Offerman. Amsterdam's couturier on the way up. See his showrooms, buy at discounts.

6. A relaxing Cup of Coffee. While you browse through Gerzon's Department Store, stop for a relaxing cup of coffee—free.

7. Delicate Dutch Liqueurs. Sample Dutch gin, or Dutch liqueurs as an aperitif or after dinner at the 17th century Bols Tavern.

UNLIMITED SIGHTSEEING IN AMSTERDAM:

(October 1, 1964—March 31, 1965)

Here's another bonus you get for stopping over in lively Amsterdam for a minimum of two nights on your exciting $5-a-Day tour of Europe. You'll receive a "pass" entitling you to as many of Amsterdam's interesting city sightseeing tours and excursions as you may wish to take in. And as often as you wish. Tours like these:

1. A boat ride through the canals of Amsterdam. You glide along tree-lined canals of this "Venice of the North", under scores of bridges. Your motor launch will take you through the major sections of Amsterdam—and then into its busy harbor—one of the world's largest.

2. A sightseeing bus tour of Amsterdam: Via motorcoach, escorted by a multi-lingual guide, you'll pass along every major street, visit every important section of the city. And you'll stop to see the great Rijksmuseum, and a diamond cutters.

3. A trip to picturesque Marken and Volendam: By motorcoach and ferry boat, you'll be taken to two of the Netherlands' most charming villages, where the inhabitants still wear wooden shoes and traditional clothing. You'll visit a model farm where famous Edam cheese is made.

4. The Hague and Delft: A motorcoach drive through the clean, sparkling countryside of Holland, with its many windmills, canals and beautiful fields. You'll visit the fascinating flower auctions, and meet the craftsmen who create the world-famous blue-and-white Delft china.

Scholarship Living Tribute

The Victoria Natural History Society has organized a drive to establish a scholarship at the University of Victoria in the name of Freeman F. King.

"This scholarship would serve to recognize Mr. King's outstanding work with young people in conservation, natural history and citizenship," said Dr. John A. Chapman, chairman of a scholarship fund committee set up by the society.

Mr. King has been "skipper" to hundreds of boys and girls in southern Vancouver Island in his various capacities as Boy Scout leader and director of the Junior Branch of the Natural History Society.

Last year Mr. King organized and conducted an Audubon Young Naturalists Camp in the Okanagan Valley, the first of its kind in British Columbia.

His name is linked with the establishment and development of Camp Bernard, John Dean Park and Thomas S. Francis Park, and the Goldstream Trail. Cheques for the scholarship fund, to be awarded to students in the natural sciences selected by the university's scholarship committee, should be made payable to the Freeman F. King Scholarship Fund, in trust.

Confessions Add To Prison Terms

Confessions to a breaking and entering Thursday resulted in 2½-year sentences for two men earlier convicted of possessing burglary tools.

Barry Jackson, 480 Garbally, and Wilfred Humphries, no fixed address, led Esquimalt police Thursday to a waterfront lumber yard near the spot where they were arrested.

Police recovered two empty liquor bottles of four part bottles stolen by the men from Gorge Vale golf course Sept. 12 during a break-in that also netted a case of 24 bottles of beer.

Still missing are two part bottles of liquor and four chrome jiggers stolen on the bottles. A case of beer recovered earlier by police is thought to be the one stolen from the club.

Already sentenced to two-year penitentiary terms for the possession conviction, the men were ordered to serve the new sentences concurrently. The order will extend the terms to a total of 2½ years with time off for good behavior still a possibility.

A youth who was described in a pre-sentence report as "incorrigible" was sentenced to eight months definite and four months indeterminate in the young offenders section of Oakalla.

Brook D. Flett, 19, 840 Victoria, was told by Magistrate William Oeller, "I doubt that you are incorrigible. I think you just have not found yourself."

He said the sentence was imposed to help the youth learn a trade and receive guidance.

A week in jail and a $50 fine was enough of a punishment for a sailor who stole a telephone receiver and then was caught when he left it in an apartment from which he moved.

Gerald Imbery, of HMCS Naden, had been remanded in custody for a week for a pre-sentence report.

The magistrate said he was satisfied the 19-year-old youth had stolen the receiver while he was under the influence of liquor "he had no business having and couldn't handle."

He also said the report indicated the action was out of character with Imbery's normal behavior.

A Hungarian immigrant, charged with a grocery theft from Woodward's Stores Ltd., was able to understand English although she spoke through an interpreter, said Magistrate Oeller.

He made the remark when Mary Zambo, 1470 Bay, answered his questions before the interpreter could translate them. She was remanded to Oct. 9 after she pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Punishment for leaving the scene of an accident was mitigated when it became known John H. Johnston of 1900 Newton stopped long enough to make sure an accident in which he was involved had not injured anyone. He was fined $100 for leaving the scene and another $20 for failing to have a valid B.C. driver's licence.

Lavern Johnson, formerly of Victoria, was remanded for sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of trespassing.

The man had been charged when his estranged wife said he had entered her home at 2065 Mattick in defiance of a court order.

Police said he entered the house in the early morning through a window. He came back later and pounded on the door until police were called and arrested him.

A pre-sentence report was ordered and will be used in determining sentence Oct. 15, said the magistrate.

Mice Lurk in Corners Of Provincial Museum

By GARY OAKES

Thousands of mice are lurking in almost every nook and cranny throughout the provincial museum.

They are bunking with shrews, rats, 10,000 birds, assorted insects, tons of bones and Indian artifacts, among others.

But generally these relatively unknown collections are not for public exhibition.

They form the bulk of the museum's scientific research collections and are tucked away in many storage rooms.

Last Year ...
... This Year

... Seven thousand hours of volunteer service at public functions and events were given by members of St. John Ambulance. Five hundred casualties received first aid. This work can continue and expand if you give generously to the 1964 United Appeal again ...

... This Year.

And according to museum director Dr. Clifford Carl, the museum requires more space, but primarily for research and not public exhibition.

"What we chiefly lack is space for services such as a lecture theatre and classrooms for study purposes and extension work," Dr. Carl said.

A new $5,000,000 museum will be built in 1967 in the parking lot across from the existing structure.

The floor space will be 10 times greater than the present museum and there will be ample study and research facilities. In addition, the area for public exhibits will be greatly enlarged.

Some of the stored material, particularly from the Indian collection, will be used in the new museum but Dr. Carl hopes to have new exhibits to replace most of the aging ones now in the museum.

"Our approach is going to be the natural divisions of the province showing the plants, animals and Indian history of each division," the director explained. "We'll also show the evolution of the white man in our province."

* * *

Dr. Carl believes this approach to be unique for museums and hopes it will establish the new Provincial Museum as one of the finest in the world.

November to See Police Station Work

By A. H. MURPHY
Colonist City Hall Reporter

Work on Victoria's police station-courthouse complex, stalled because of a disparity between construction estimates and actual tenders, will begin early next month, Mayor R. B. Wilson said Thursday.

After a two-hour conference, members of the police commission and city officials decided that they can, without sacrificing essentials, pare at least $128,000 from the cost of the buildings.

"We are much encouraged after our meeting," said Mayor Wilson. "There has been a lot of hard work put on this problem but I believe we now have been able to come up with a satisfactory answer."

Aldermen were joined late in August when they opened tenders for renovation of the present police station and adjacent construction of a new municipal courthouse.

FAR APART

The estimate for the job was $299,000.

Lowest tender of three received was $476,900.

Since that time there has been a series of conferences all designed to find ways of altering plans for the buildings to bring them in line with the city's ability to pay.

DECISION

These parleys all culminated in Thursday's decision to forge ahead with the work next month. Asked if the city would call for new tenders on the altered plans for the buildings to bring them in line with the city's ability to pay.

"I expect that we will continue to deal with the low tender," Farmer Construction," he said. "This firm seems to want to go ahead with the work and will, I am sure, be able to adapt to revisions in plans."

Students Seek Cannon But Won't Say Why

Something is going to be celebrated with a bang at the University of Victoria, but nobody seems to know what.

Staff of the Martlet, the student newspaper, is looking for a cannon that will fire blanks, but why they should want to fire a salute is being kept a secret.

To the suggestion that it was in celebration of Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor's installation as president no one would comment.

No one knows if it's to salute a new maths course; free education; start of a new and noisy Fresh Week, or what.

But editor-in-chief Peter Bower says the staff wants one and will take very good care of it.

Dog's Alarm Saves Child From Creek

By BOB PETHICK

The whining and barking of the neighborhood's favorite dog and quick action of a frantic mother who saw her child floating face down in Colquitz Creek made a life-saving combination Thursday.

James Robert White, 2, of 3318 Rolston Crescent, victim of the near-drowning was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital after his mother jumped in and dragged him from the creek and gave him artificial respiration until he was breathing normally.

He was released after examination.

Last night, wrapped in a blanket, he sat sleepily sharing the couch in his living room with Tawny, a two-year-old mostly French poodle, and ate a banana as though nothing had happened.

About to Eat

The Whites were about to sit down and eat when Mrs. J. R. D. White went out to call James. She looked around the neighborhood, then came back and started looking down toward the creek.

The White home is about a block and a half from the creek. Mrs. White didn't see the boy at first, and was about to start back for home when she heard Tawny, who is a favorite dog of the neighborhood, whining and kicking up a din.

She rushed to the creek bank and saw Robert floating face down.

"I jumped in and for a minute I didn't think I was going to make it out again," said Mrs. White. "It hadn't been for that barking dog I might not have found him."

The water was about three feet deep, but Mrs. White was too busy to notice if it was cold or warm.

She pulled Robert to shore, and when she had him out she pummelled him in the stomach several times and he started to cry. Then she gave him artificial respiration, while Tawny ran around barking.

Given Hot Bath

She carried him to a neighbor's house where they put him in a hot bath.

"I don't know the name of the people, but they were very kind," said Mrs. White. The Whites only recently moved into the district.

Tawny last night seemed nonchalant about the whole thing and yawned when a photographer took his picture. He is owned by C. H. Bell, 608 Lambie Drive, a neighbor of the Whites.

Mr. White arrived at the house on Nora Avenue where James had finished his bath. He carried the lad home then phoned the ambulance.

Fence Needed

"We thought it would be wise to have him checked over," he said.

"I don't know why they don't do something like putting a fence along the creek. A lot of children play down there," said Mr. White.

Mrs. White believed the youngster hadn't realized he was stepping on water.

"There is a lot of green scum on the water there and he might have thought it was grass," she said.

When one of the Bell children was asked the dog's ancestry he replied, "Just a mongrel."

"Not in my book," said Mr. White, "as far as I am concerned he is the finest dog in the world."

Two Speakers At Art Gallery

Victoria Office Closing

By DON GAIN
Colonist Military Reporter

Vancouver, which has no naval ships and few navy men, will be the West Coast headquarters for armed forces public relations, defence department officials said Thursday.

First reports said that full-time armed forces public relations officers would be withdrawn from most commands.

NO P.R.O.

This would have left Victoria, with more than 17 naval ships and about 5,000 personnel, with no public information officer.

But Victoria Liberal MP David Gross told The Daily Colonist from Ottawa that Victoria would have a public relations representative to look after the three services.

Now the navy's public relations here is handled by an officer at HMC Dockyard under Lt.-Cmdr. Ray Wornald. Handling army public relations at Work Point is Sgt. Stanley Fernstrom. RCAF releases come from Vancouver.

MP DISTURBED

Esquimalt-Seanchin Conservative MP George Chatterton told the paper from Ottawa:

"The thing that disturbs me is the basis on which these people are being released. It seems to me that the ones who are not being kept are those who are not in favor of integration."

Airport Loses $197,000

The annual net loss in operating Victoria International Airport increased for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1964, to $197,000 compared to $184,000 for the previous year.

The increased loss resulted from a drop in passenger traffic last year and from the increased depreciation charges following the extension of the main east-west runway.

The financial picture for the current year will change considerably as a result of the operation of the new terminal building opened in August.

Despite the drop in passenger traffic during 1963, aircraft movements including itinerant and local flights, increased to 73,945 from 72,885 in 1962.

Fisherman Stranded on Beach Rescued by Helicopter, RCMP

A department of transport helicopter working with Sooke RCMP plucked a stranded fisherman from the China Beach area Thursday after he had spent the night on the beach.

Walter Pitkanen of Burnaby hit a deadhead Wednesday and was forced to beach his gill-netter the Heljay, after it was holed and began filling with water.

He made it ashore at San Simon Point, about 35 miles west of Victoria.

He gathered canned goods that had washed ashore from his boat and made himself a meal and a fire.

Later he tried to make it to the road but was turned back on two attempts by dense brush.

When the helicopter landed Thursday he was about to make another try to get to the road.

This time he was taking an axe. Sooke RCMP Wednesday night tramped the beach for 10 miles but were unable to find the stranded fisherman.

Asked if the city would call for new tenders on the altered plans for the buildings to bring them in line with the city's ability to pay.

"I expect that we will continue to deal with the low tender," Farmer Construction," he said. "This firm seems to want to go ahead with the work and will, I am sure, be able to adapt to revisions in plans."

Canadianisms Compiled

By TED GANKELL

The premier, just back from the stampede, stood on the bench and wished he were on the saltchuck going after tyee instead of pitlamping mowich and foolhem.

The unusual thing about the foregoing sentence, apart from the fact that it is pure fiction, is that eight of the words are so characteristically Canadian that you won't find them in English or American dictionaries.

And there are lots more, about 10,000 in fact.

Soon they'll be included in a dictionary of Canadianisms at present being compiled at the University of Victoria's new lexicographical centre.

* * *

Dr. M. H. Seagill, head of the university's linguistics department, brought the project here with him when he came from the University of Alberta to become department head and assistant to president Dr. Malcolm G. Taylor.

He's being assisted by Dr. Douglas Leachman of Victoria and Dr. W. S. Avis in Kingston, who will come out here next summer.

Their dictionary will give Canadian words plus the date of origin and when they were dropped from the language.

It will also give sentences demonstrating the meanings.

* * *

Many Indian words will appear, including mowich, meaning deer. This word was used not long ago in a headline in an interior daily newspaper which informed its readers:

MOWICH CAUSES CAR ACCIDENT

Tyee and tillicum are better known Indian words which have come into general use.

Premier in the Oxford dictionary means the prime minister of a country. It doesn't include the word bench, meaning an escarpment, like the Okanagan benches where the orchards are.

In the Oxford, stampede means a wild flight.

Confederation refers to the U.S. confederate army; in Webster's it's the union of 13 states. No mention of provincial union.

Pitlamping isn't found in other dictionaries, and is called jack-lamping in the east.

Foolhem is the Canadian name for a type of grouse that is stupid and easily caught.

Brewis, the Newfoundland word for a kind of stew is another Canadian word. So are saltchuck (chinook), muskeg (Creve), and mukluk (Eskimo).

* * *

The department of linguistics, the only one of its kind in English-speaking Canada, is also working on a dictionary of Canadian English.

Oxford and American dictionaries use no Canadian references and Canada needs her own dictionary, said Dr. Seagill.

Candle Making Contest Opens

Candles made by skilled craftsmen in each medieval village were once precious possessions of only the prosperous few.

Today, thousands of Canadian women are making their own candles and a few are even starting home industries to earn extra dollars with this exciting hobby.

Candle making enthusiasts, in their search for new designs, like to share their knowledge gained in kitchen experiments with other keen candle makers.

To facilitate a more efficient exchange of information The Candle Making Institute was established in Toronto early this year as a central bureau for the dissemination of ideas, information and news on candle making. The institute also provides a source of basic and advanced instructions for this hobby.

To encourage others to take an interest in this craft, The Candle Making Institute has organized a national contest with more than $1,500 in prizes.

More than 5,000 official women's groups and auxiliaries have been contacted with details of the contest which is open to participation by women's groups only and not to individuals. However, the institute is not limiting the number of groups that can enter and any women's group can obtain an entry form and other contest details by writing The Candle Making Institute, PO Box 4080, Terminal "A", Toronto 1, Ontario.

The institute has chosen this time for the contest because many women's groups are preparing candles for their bazaars. It is suggested that the finest of the candles prepared for the group's fund-raising sale be submitted in the contest.

Married At Home

At a ceremony performed by the Rev. T. H. McAllister at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. E. Berrard, Gladstone Avenue, Miss Ethel Mercer was united in marriage with Mr. James V. Bell.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Bert Thompson, the bride wore a silk ensemble in American Beauty shade and a flowered hat in varied pinks. Rapture roses were in her bouquet.

Mrs. B. Davis, matron of honor, wore a silk dress in red tone harmonizing with the bride's outfit. Her French feathered hat was white and she carried white carnations.

Mr. George Bell was best man for his brother.

Yellow chrysanthemums and yellow and white gladiolus decorated the room and the bridal table was centred with a three-tiered cake and yellow candles. Mr. Bert Davis proposed the toast.

For a wedding trip to the United States the bride travelled in an imported beige tweed suit and matching hat. Her corsage was a yellow orchid.

Infanta is the name of this new hair fashion created by the Styling Council of B.C. The small head style is designed to complement the new Fall and Winter fashion picture, which is featuring the mode of the twenties — the crepe and lace gowns with low necklines. The hair is shorter with less volume and closer to the natural head size, but with more airy effect. One new point is the V-shaped nape and another is the column of the crown, the high point level with the front of the ear. Emphasis is on the soft, generous waves.

Honeymoon in Banff

A pretty wedding took place in Shady Creek United Church recently when Emily Jean Rickard became the bride of Mr. Gordon James Armond.

Rev. C. L. Johnston performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rickard, 1760 McTavish Road, and the son of Mrs. E. Armond, 1214 Oscar Street, and the late Mr. Armond.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of white nylon lace over satin with pearls outlining the scalloped neckline. A crown of pearls held her chapel-length veil and she carried a cascade of gold chrysanthemums, yellow roses and ivy.

Bridesmaid Miss Yvonne MacLeod wore a dress of sheer yellow nylon and a headpiece of yellow satin roses.

Miss Marion Rickard was junior bridesmaid for her sister and she wore a sheer blue nylon dress and matching satin rose headpiece.

Both attendants carried white and gold chrysanthemums with trailing ivy.

Mr. Kenneth Berry of Ladysmith was best man and showing guests to the pews were Mr. John Edwards and Mr. Gordon Rickard, the bride's brother.

A reception was held in St. Paul's United Church Hall in Sidney. The bridal table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother. Mr. W. D. MacLeod proposed the toast.

Leaving for a honeymoon in Banff, the bride travelled in a white wool dress, beige topcoat and black accessories. Her corsage was of peach rosebuds. The couple are now living at Mill Bay.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Nerland, the bride's grandparents from Medicine Hat, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Nerland, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. M. Kanigan, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Olafson, Steveston, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Stiller, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ross, Ladysmith; Mr. A. Robertson, Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Newhart, Crofton.

Exciting Adventures Shared by Travellers

By TRUDY KEMP

Have you ever slept right on the deck of a liner sailing through the Mediterranean... or decorated a train for Christmas... or hitchhiked across Europe... or modelled in London? These were only a fraction of the many adventures enjoyed by Miss Lois Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Don Robbins of Mayfair Drive, during a two-year cruise of Europe and the Middle East. She returned home last weekend.

Sharing in these exciting adventures was a girl friend from Vancouver, Miss Carol Reynolds.

The attractive Victoria girl was born in Shanghai and lived most of the first 16 years of her life in Hong Kong. Her father was at that time building surveyor in the architectural department for the British government.

Lois came to Victoria in 1957 to attend Victoria College for a year before going on to UBC where she majored in French and Russian.

She made one trip back to Hong Kong for her 1959 holidays and in 1961 her parents came for her graduation in Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins decided to retire in Victoria at this time.

After graduation Lois worked for about six months in the registrar's office at Victoria College. She also did some modelling for one of the local department stores.

On Nov. 2, 1962, the two girls sailed from Montreal for Le Havre, and on to Paris where they spent two "fascinating" weeks exploring all the sights and sounds they'd heard so much about. Also every chance she had, Lois would visit a particular Chinese restaurant in Paris. The restaurant, known for its authentic Chinese dishes, is owned by friends of her family from Hong Kong, Fred, John S. L. and Mrs. Woo, who were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robbins.

Following their stay in Paris, Lois and Carol boarded the Orient Express for Belgrade, stopping off at various points of interest. They soon found they needed those stopovers.

"Sitting on the hard, wooden benches became a bit tiring especially after 14 hours," Lois recalled.

Just before they reached the Yugoslavian city where they spent Christmas Day the girls decided to brighten things up. They took over one of the empty compartments of the train and set about decorating it in honor of the festive season. Forgetting for the moment they were in a Communist country, the Canadian travellers were puzzled by the attitude of the other passengers. Stony stares and a few choice comments from some of the men, especially when they kept hitting their heads on the hanging Christmas stockings, forced the girls to take their decorations down.

"It was the most miserable Christmas I've ever had," Lois commented.

Their next stop was Athens where they spent two months. During the latter part of their visit they had the use of a "lovely apartment" belonging to some friends who let the girls have it while they were away.

"It was sure a nice change from hotel rooms and youth hostels," Miss Robbins said.

An unexpected cold snap hit the Greek city so the girls decided to go on to warmer ports. Once again, through friends, they ran into good luck regarding living accommodations. They met some people from Lebanon who were planning to be away from their home in Beirut for a month.

"They just handed over the keys to their apartment and said 'It's all yours for a month,'" exclaimed Lois. It was like that nearly everywhere they went. People were just wonderful to us."

On their way to the Lebanese city the travellers stopped in Cairo for a couple of weeks.

"Poor Carol, she caught some rare fever while we were there and was pretty sick."

They stayed six months in Beirut and Lois worked three of those months on a tourist magazine.

"Most of the business people in Beirut speak French so we didn't have too much trouble in our work," she said.

Miss Robbins said she found Beirut to be one of the most "fascinating cities she had ever been in" but wouldn't want to live there. She went on to explain that tourism is still in its infancy and the sight of two young girls travelling alone was quite shocking and a bit hard to overcome.

While in the Lebanese city the girls made the front cover of an Arabic magazine for women. Their pictures were in full color and this they didn't mind. But, what turned out to be a bit embarrassing to them and their new-found friends was the statement which went along with the pictures.

"It was in large print, too," recalled Lois.

The attractive Victorian smiled and went on to explain they often talked about the differences between European and Arabic men. They used to "jokingly" say that what the Lebanese men needed were more European women around. This remark was picked up and reported to the magazine by one of their acquaintances.

Before returning to Europe they took a side trip to Jerusalem. When they were ready to sail on one of the Greek liners going through the Mediterranean they found they had lost their original ticket. Money and time being scarce they had to go deck class and actually slept on the deck.

"Fortunately we made friends with the cook. He kept slipping food out to us during the trip," Lois said.

Their brief stay in Rome was marred by food poisoning and the extreme heat.

"We started to run out of money at this point so we sent our luggage on to Frankfurt and started to hitch-hike the rest of the way."

They enjoyed this part of the trip and through it met many interesting people. They also stopped at all the out-of-way places and every big city along the way.

The girls arrived in London in November, 1963, and set about finding jobs right away. Lois taught school and modelled for the internationally-known Wild-taker agency. She also took a modelling course there and plans to put it to good use when she leaves for San Francisco after Christmas. She hopes to go into fashion co-ordinating work in the California city.

Betty Lorraine Anderson Bride of Ernest Kretai

Baskets of pink and white gladiolus decorated Metropolitan United Church for the candle-light ceremony uniting in marriage Betty Lorraine Anderson and Mr. Ernest Kretai of Victoria and formerly of Sopron, Hungary. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Anderson of Victoria and the late Mr. Anderson.

Rev. E. Laura Butler officiated at the double-ring wedding. Mr. Robert Orr sang the Lord's Prayer for the ceremony and O' Perfect Love during signing of the register. Mr. Eric Boothroyd was organist.

The bride was radiant in a floor-length gown of rustling ribbed silk styled with long tapered sleeves and portrait neckline edged in Guipure lace. The softly gathered sheath skirt was enhanced by matching lace appliques circling the skirt below the dropped waistline. A slim wattleau panel, appliqued with lace, fell gracefully from the bride's shoulders and her elbow-length veil mistled from a caplet of ribbed silk edged in Guipure lace and studded pearls. Pink Rapture roses, ivy and stephanotis were in her bridal bouquet.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Harry Dean, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Theodore Anderson, bride's sister-in-law, were gownned alike in street-length dresses of sapphire blue nylon chiffon over taffeta and wore headpieces and accessories in tone. They carried crescent bouquets of white gladiolus.

Flower girl, Miss Mariene Davis, wore a white crystal taffeta frock and a matching sapphire blue headpiece. She carried a basket of blue and white daisies.

Mr. Ernest Kretai was best man and ushering guests were Mr. Wayne Anderson, brother of the bride, and Mr. Brian Marion.

Pink and white gladiolus and pink tapers decorated Sir William Wallace Room at Holyrood House for the reception. A three-tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, and decorated with white roses, centred the head table. Rev. Butler proposed the toast to the bride. Following the reception guests danced to the organ stylings by Mr. Ron Berod.

For travelling the bride chose a two-piece turquoise Italian-knit suit with matching hat and black patent accessories. A corsage of pink roses complemented her ensemble.

Following a honeymoon trip to the interior of British Columbia the newlyweds will make their home at 1320 Rockland Avenue.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Now that school has started again several of us parents would like your views. Last winter a high school girl (age 16) became pregnant. The boy was a senior. They were both popular and involved in school activities. Well, they didn't miss a thing. They were married in February and continued to go on school trips. They participated in band competition and the girl was a tulip in the May festival. She was six months pregnant at the time and stood right in the front row. At commencement the boy received three awards and was given a thunderous ovation. It's always sad when young people get into trouble but is it wise to permit them to remain in school and enjoy the honors and privileges? I'd like to see your views in print.—SO BO CO

Dear So: I don't think pregnant girls belong in high school—married or single. Nor do I feel that married boys should be permitted to engage in extracurricular activities. The boy who marries in high school should be devoting all his extra time to a job. When he becomes a husband he forfeits the privileges of a "fun-loving kid."

I do not believe a married male student should be kicked out of school, however. He will be needing all the education he can get.

***
Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Unsmiled" about cigarette smoking was one person's opinion. And now will you print mine?

You keep insisting, Ann Landers, that smoking is a dirty habit. Why? I've been smoking since I was 17 and can see nothing dirty about it. I find smoking refreshing, relaxing and pleasant. I have yet to burn a hole in anything.

I understand you do not smoke and never have. How then can you have such definite views on the subject. Thank you for answering in the column—if you are equal to it. E and H.

Dear E. and H.: I've never been drunk, divorced or committed a murder, either, but I have some pretty definite views on those subjects, too.

Smoking is a dirty habit and perhaps the best authorities are those who do not smoke. Non-smokers can be objective about the stained teeth, the discolored fingers, the foul breath and the odor of stale smoke on other people's clothing.

Dear Ann Landers: I have reason to believe my husband is the father of a child born to another woman. She is married and has other children.

For two years I suspected my husband was seeing her. He has denied it consistently. The child which clinched my suspicion has an unusual ear structure which runs in my husband's family. My husband, his brothers and his father have this same odd ear structure. Our own children have it, too.

Naturally I don't want to ruin my husband's name, nor do I want to hurt the other woman's family. I would divorce him for "mental cruelty" and not mention the baby. But he will not give me a divorce unless I have the goods on him. Do I? Can a blood test prove anything? —NOT SEEKING REVENGE

Dear Not Seeking: A blood test can not prove that a man is not the father of a child. It cannot prove that he is.

Whether he's a briefcase carrier, heads a committee, or just wants a convenient place for transacting family business, the man of the house will appreciate an office setup like this. Ceiling-high doors conceal a file cabinet, shelves for supplies and books, and a typewriter. Doors completely close off the storage area when not in use. He'll need a large, well-lighted desk for a working surface. A telephone is an extra convenience. The black leather and walnut design of this desk and chair has sure appeal for a man.—(Better Homes and Gardens)

PERSONAL MENTION

Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Joan Youell whose marriage to Mr. Paul Howe takes place on Oct. 2 was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Glenna Reside at the home of Mrs. Reside, Harlow Street. The many beautiful gifts were presented in a pink and white decorated clothes basket. Miss Youell received a corsage of pink carnations and her mother, Mrs. Youell white carnations. Besides her sister, Mrs. J. Fiddick, guests included co-workers from the Royal Trust Co., Mrs. E. McRae, Mrs. S. Dokter, Mrs. J. Vincent, Mrs. B. Firth, Mrs. B. Chalmer, Mrs. P. MacDonald, Mrs. S. Spraggett, Mrs. M. Wilson, Mrs. F. Campbell, Mrs. C. Robinson, Mrs. E. Muston, Mrs. B. Vessey, Mrs. G. Cox, Mrs. K. Frost, Mrs. B. Whyte, Mrs. P. Wewchuk, Misses, P. Wilton, J. Boorman, L. Sing, M. Patterson, S. Thomas, J. Lemming, G. Dorosh, L. Hamilton, C. Bickford, S. Mondakton, M. Burton, R. Treloar, D. Baird, J. Cullen, L. Worth.

Out-of-town Guests

Out-of-town guests at the Clarke-McConnell wedding in St. John's Church Saturday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. H. Portingale and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. Britton, Miss G. Jennings and Miss M. Grant, Vancouver; Mrs. J. Hovan, Sonoma, Calif.

Bride Elect Feted

Miss Gail Kotilla, is being feted prior to her marriage on Saturday afternoon to Constable William Erickson, formerly of Chemainus, now posted at Sidney, B.C. The wedding will take place at Duncan United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldous To Live in Vancouver

A floor-length gown of white nylon chiffon over taffeta, accented with tiny buttons and a bridal bow at the waist, was worn by Miss Carolyn Isabel Sutton when she exchanged vows with Patrick Alan Aldous.

Lace appliques studded with sequins enhanced the fitted bodice and scalloped neckline and a crown of seed pearls and crystals held a four-tier veil of illusion net. White gladiolus, pink princess roses and ivy were in her cascade bouquet.

Tall baskets of pink Rapture roses and ferns decorated St. Richard's Anglican Church, Rev. A. E. Hendy officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutton, 4471 Tyndall Avenue, and M. F. Aldous, 4590 Sumner Place, and the late Mrs. Aldous.

The soloist, Miss Irene Harris, sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony, and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Sisters of the bride, Misses Lee and Wendy Sutton, wore matching pink velvet flocked nylon over taffeta gowns, and pink accessories. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and pink gladiolus flowers.

Peter Benson, of North Vancouver, was best man. Ushers were Charles Aldous and Frank May.

A three-tier cake, topped with pink roses and encircled with pink chiffon, centred the bride's table at the reception in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. The toast to the bride was proposed by Gordon Williamson.

Leaving for a honeymoon in Washington State the bride wore a brown wool dress, fawn mohair coat and accessories en tone.

Garden Notes

Handle with Care

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Yesterday we spent a little time kicking around the problem of just when to dig up the gladiolus bulbs for winter storage indoors, and if you remember, I suggested the end of October as about as good a time as any — weather conditions permitting, of course. Having settled the "when," I think we might go on today to the "how."

Glad bulbs should be handled as gently as eggs, for a bruise on one bulb could start a rot that could spread to all the bulbs in storage. For this reason, it isn't a good idea to go down the row hoeing the plants out of the ground by the scruff of the neck. Ease them up with the digging fork, at the same time pulling gently on the top growth, being careful not to scatter the spawn or bulblets all over the place.

As each bulb comes up, cut off the tops right down to within an inch of the bulb — I find a small pair of pruning shears carried in my hip pocket ideal for this job. These tops should be stacked loosely to dry out, and then burned, for they are no good in the compost heap, rotting down to a slimy, evil-smelling mass. Besides, these tops will almost certainly carry disease spores or insect pests.

Don't make any particular effort to clean up the lifted bulbs at this stage — that comes later. Leave them outdoors for the balance of the day — possibly on the lawn — for the sun and wind to get in their healing licks, then stack them in shallow boxes or trays, not more than three bulbs deep, for they need plenty of air circulating through and around them.

It is a good idea at this point, though, to give them a good squirt of any multi-purpose garden dust you may happen to have on hand — ideally one that contains both a good bug-killer and a fungicide. Any of the modern packaged combination dusts will do — rose dust, potato dust, bulb dust, evergreen dust.

I have a decided preference for a formula that includes Captan, for I have found that this fungicide puts a little extra sparkle into next year's flowers, just as a captain-sulphur treatment makes for cleaner and more sparkling strawberries.

One very common mistake in gladiolus culture is to store the lifted bulbs straight away in a very cool corner of the basement; this often gives rise to a lot of queer moulds and rots. The bulbs need a period of two to three weeks in an airy but very warm place to ripen and cure their tissues; ideally around 80 degrees.

I find the cosy furnace room in our basement is warm enough for this curing operation after the furnace comes on in the fall — around 75 degrees. To help things along a bit, I rig up a small portable electric fan to blow a current of air across the bulbs for about an hour a day to speed up the curing. This fan stunt is by no means a necessity — just an added refinement — although reasonably good ventilation is a must.

There is a simple test that will indicate when curing is completed. Clinging to the bottom of each plump bulb will be an old, wizened-up bulb which is all that remains of the bulb you planted last spring. Try to twist off the worm-out old bulb from the bottom of the new one. If it comes away readily and all in one piece, your bulbs are ripe and ready to be cleaned up and transferred to cool storage. If you meet much resistance in trying to separate the old bulb from the new bulb, better give your gladiolus corns another week in the warmth, then try it again.

The cleaning, dusting and storage problems will be dealt with in this column at the appropriate time.

JOHN CROSBY Reads a Parable

Cops, Robbers Think Alike!

LONDON — I have an ambivalent feeling about cops. When I was a police reporter, I knew some remarkably good ones.

Some of them, and admirable ones. But also some bad ones. Police reporting left me with a residue of anti-copism that I don't suppose I'll ever get rid of. My feeling is that cops are publicly admired when they're least admirable. Conversely, they get their skulls beaten in for their most admirable and misunderstood moments.

In Europe, for example, the Harlem riots made them out as brutal thugs beating up oppressed Negroes, when in fact the cops were showing truly heroic restraint in dealing with teenage punks who would be called that if they were another color.

I've just read a book called Mr. Love and Justice (not a new one, it was written in 1960) by Colin MacInnes, an excellent writer. The book is not so much a novel as a parable, a stately minuet between the criminal and the police. Mr. Love and Justice is about big city copism, specifically London's.

In it the criminal — in this case, a "ponce" (pimp) and his prostitute and the cop indulge in a stately, pre-ordained, and inevitable ritual dance of mutual self-destruction.

MacInnes writes with great perspicacity: "The true copper's dominant characteristic, if the truth be known, is neither those daring nor vicious qualities that are sometimes attributed to him by friend or enemy, but an ingrained conservatism, an almost desperate love of the conventional."

"It is untidiness, disorder, the unusual, the copper disapproves."

of most of all, far more than of crime, which is a professional matter.

"Hence, his profound dislike of people loitering in the streets, dressing extravagantly, speaking with exotic accents, or simply any rare minority — of their doing anything that can't be safely predicted."

That's a very shrewd analysis and it applies to cops in Istanbul or anywhere. MacInnes is writing about London's bobbies and Scotland Yard men who are probably the world's most respected cops. Throughout the book MacInnes emphasizes the kinship in feeling between the cop and the robber, the hunted and the hunter.

"So far as I can see," says Frankie (the ponce of the tale), "the coppers are simply criminals who don't happen to commit crimes — not usually anyway — because their graft, their occupation, is not that but to detect them. But they've got the criminal mentality, all right."

Frankie points out that coppers only came into existence a 100 or so years ago. "The world seems to have got on very well without them for thousands of years and someday they'll disappear as suddenly as they appeared."

"We live in the age of cops, but I don't suppose, like anything else, that it'll last forever. They say coppers suppress crime. My own feeling is that they create it. They spread a criminal atmosphere where none existed. A soldier to succeed needs wars: in just the same way a copper to get on needs crime."

At the end of this spiky little novel, the cop, now busted out of the force, is about to become a ponce and the ponce, busted out of his occupation, is about to become a private detective, the two thus switching roles.

Lying side by side in a hospital, they make some observations. I think pertinent, especially in light of the recent case in New York where 38 witnesses did nothing at all but watch a young girl get stabbed to death.

"Citizens," said Edward (the ex-cop), "broadly speaking, just don't want to be responsible. If you hear a scream in the night these days, you say, 'Oh, the law will take care of it.' A hundred years ago, or even fifty, our grandfathers would have grabbed hold of the poker and gone out to take a look for themselves — not just dialled 999 (London's celebrated emergency police call)."

Observes the ex-ponce, "As religions have got weaker, coppers have got stronger. The copper is the priest of the 20th century world inspiring fear and, if you're obedient, giving absolution. You're the priest of a religion without a God."

Over and over and over.

That TV Drivel Can Now Be Taped

By STAN DELAPLANE

The TV seems to be improving. Not the plots, I mean the sets. For a simple $33,000, you can buy a gorgeous chunk of electronics that does everything but the dispersal.

This is an Ampex machine. It receives TV and puts it on tape. You can play it back. It also plays records, FM, AM into the p.m. But the playback TV was what got me.

You are going to the neighborhood movie, see? Turn on the machine. Will you miss your favorite program — Have Gun, Will Travel, the story of a love-literate star stewardess?

No, sir. You come back from the movie. Turn on the tape.

There is Jane, in love with the handsome pilot.

"Goah, oh, gee," she wails.

"Coffee, tea or milk!"

Science has saved us from losing the fleeting, flickering emotion.

Most of TV is still the winning of the West. "Splat! Take that, Slade! Draw yuh varmint!"

This can all be taken on tape. While you sleep if you like.

Wake up, turn on the tape and you are in the Golden Chance Saloon.

"You must be new in town, handsome!"

The voice on the dolly is low, down enough to shake her sequins. But her heart is 18-karat with a Florentine finish.

This can be taped. And played over and over and over. It would save you looking at the next episode. Which is the previous episode. Over and over and over.

Over and over and over.

Over and over and over.

Failure as Actor
Success as Showman

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

NEW YORK (NANA) — Keefe Branniff, whose sudden rise to fame and riches is the talk and wonder of New York, has just bought a yacht, two fancy automobiles, and a swank town house. Keefe never did too well as an actor, and to my knowledge he was never an executive until recently. He now has three network shows in orbit, The Cara Williams Show, The Bailey's of Balboa starring Paul Ford, and The Reporter with Harry Guardino. The reviews have been bad. There is another series on Keefe's schedule, The Loop. This one will be made in Chicago. I must catch up with him and get the secret of his success.

Dirk Bogarde's farewell party to Sybil Burton in London at the Ad Lib Club went on and on with Dirk singing a Hello Sybil parody on Dolly that had the first Mrs. Burton in tears. She took off the same day for New York with her two daughters. Richard will be seeing them all for the first time in two years when he arrives in New York next week with the second Mrs. Burton and I don't have to tell you who she is.

David Semakind and this reporter were passing a magnificent Rolls Royce, and I said to David, "Yours?" "No," he almost sneered. "Rolls Royces are for women." Oh how I wish they were.

Rex Harrison was beaming all through the premiere of wife Rachel Robert's Maggie May musical in London. Rex escorted Sybil Burton. The Lancelotti Bart show is a big hit and all the top show folk in England were there — including Peter Sellers and his expecting wife, Britt Ekland, Noel Coward with Rosalind Russell, and Judy Garland with her admirer, Mark Herron. At one time, pre-Mark, we thought that Judy and Mr. Bart were pairing off. I guess he had too much to do to be able to keep rushing Judy to the hospital.

Mention the name of Warren Beatty, and director Robert Rossen walks out of the room. They had so many arguments during the making of Lilith that the director says he almost landed in the hospital. Anyway, the few reviews I have seen are kind to Rossen. Warren apparently walked through his role. But this young man is such a good actor that he is better walking through a part than most actors running. And by the way, Warren has just accepted the co-starring role with Peter O'Toole in The Chase. With Sam Spiegel producing.

Religion Hurt By Prosperity

Only about one per cent of the people in the big cities of West Germany go to churches, said international evangelist Rev. Stanley Collins who arrived in Victoria Thursday night for a two-week preaching mission.

He will be preaching every night, except Saturday, from 7:30 until 9 p.m. at Central Baptist Church, 835 Pandora.

"After the Second World War, it was common on the bomb sites of Germany to have two to three thousand people in a tent service with another three to four thousand outside."

SITUATION CHANGED

"Within 10 years Germany was on her feet again and the situation changed," he added.

Mr. Collins relates the lack of interest in Christianity in England as well as Germany

Labor Watches Liberals

MOOSE JAW (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress will take special interest in the first session of the Saskatchewan legislature under its new Liberal administration, said Claude Jodoin, Canadian Labor Congress president.

to material prosperity: cars, TV and travel.

"We are further off now from receiving the gospel, despite all our modern methods, than when it was first given," declared the minister.

POPULATION GROWTH

"The reason," he said, "is primarily because the world's population has increased so rapidly."

During the next two weeks, Mr. Collins will be inviting those in attendance to accept the gospel.

Asked how he would define the message of the gospel, the evangelist said, "The gospel is the good news that Christ brings personal salvation."

SALVATION

"There were hundreds of religions before Christ, but the Christian religion is the only one that brings this salvation."

"A transaction takes place between the individual and Christ whereby on the basis of Christ's death and resurrection, the individual receives the assurance of sins forgiven, enjoys peace with God and has the certainty of eternal life within his heart," he said.

After his mission here Mr. Collins, who is minister of Tent Hall, Glasgow, goes to Los Angeles, cities in Oklahoma, Nebraska and Texas, then to New York and back to Glasgow.

His Unit On Standby

Ottawa has announced 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, Victoria, has been named standby unit for United Nations peacekeeping activities to relieve 1st Battalion, Canadian Guards, now en route to Cyprus. Unit's commanding officer is Lt. Col. Henry (Hank) C. F. Elliot, above.

'50-Cent Building' Killed Six

BOSTON (AP)—Five firemen were killed Thursday when the wall of a fire-ravaged vacant toy factory collapsed and buried them in tons of brick and mortar.

A sixth man, a civilian trapped in the wreckage, died later in hospital.

Acting Fire Chief John E. Clougherty arrived at the scene shortly after the wall collapsed. His son, Robert J. Clougherty, 31, was one of the victims.

Clougherty said "he could have been killed in Korea, but a lousy 50-cent building fell on him."

Meetings Today

● Members and wives of the CNR Pensioners, K. of P. Hall, 2 p.m.

● Arthur Mayne will address the Lions Club of Victoria, Empress Hotel, noon.

● E. R. McEwen will speak to the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, Music Room, Public Library, 8 p.m.

● Patricia Witherspoon will open the Audubon Screen Tour Series, Oak Bay Junior High School, 8 p.m.

Weather Bad In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver weather forecaster says that last month was the coldest September on record and one of the wettest. The highest temperature for the month was 69.1 degrees, compared with a normal September maximum of 75. Rainfall totalled 4.77 inches compared with a normal 1.9.

Countdown Under Way As Final Month Begins

There is still one month left to get a fish that could give a Canadian Pacific Air Lines round trip for two to a week's vacation in New Zealand, a Vancouver Island Helicopters weekend camping-fishing trip or an aluminum car-top boat.

Any salmon five pounds or more and any trout or bass one pound or more is eligible so long as it is entered by a Colonist subscriber.

There is still time to catch a Colonist subscriber, take out a fish and win a prize.

FISH NUMBERED

At the end of the contest each fish entered will be given a number. All the numbers will be put into a big barrel from which the winners will be drawn. If a non-subscriber's ticket is drawn, it will be eliminated and another draw made in its place.

Wreckage of Thresher Found, Photographed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. navy has found and photographed the main wreckage of the nuclear submarine Thresher, which took 129 men to their deaths in the North Atlantic last year.

The navy said the discovery was made by the deep-diving bathyscaphe Trieste II. It photographed four shattered sections of the sub, including a piece of superstructure bearing the vessel's number, 593.

The navy said the wreck was located 230 miles east of Cape Cod at a depth of 8,500 feet.

EXCITING NEWS FOR HOME DECORATORS (Amateur and Professionals)

NEW FROM ARMSTRONG—
A REVOLUTIONARY DESIGN IDEA
IN VINYL ASBESTOS TILE FLOOR.

PEBBLETTE embossed EXCELON TILE

A MODERATELY PRICED 9"x9" VINYL ASBESTOS TILE WITH THE UNIQUE DESIGN THAT GIVES THE LUXURIOUS WALL-TO-WALL APPEARANCE OF HIGHER PRICED SHEET VINYL FLOORS.

(THIS IS A SECTION OF PEBBLETTE TILE SHOWING YOU THE DESIGN FULL SIZE.)

Gentle embossing hides scuffs and heel marks for easier maintenance.

No. 4200 Secret Beige
No. 4201 Surfside White
No. 4202 Seaspray Green
No. 4203 Sunset Tan
No. 4204 Sandstone Ivory

Can be installed in any room, even in most downstairs playrooms, directly on the concrete.

You can install Pebblette yourself. It cuts with scissors. And can be applied with an easy-to-use Armstrong adhesive.

We'll send you a free colour folder on Pebblette. Write Armstrong, Post Office Box 919, Dept. V, Montreal, Quebec.

Pebblette is one of the famous Armstrong VINYL FLOORS

It delivers
60 seconds.

In the next day or so, you may learn something new about the taste of rye whisky. The message takes one minute. And no more than one taste of a whisky called Time. A gentle whisky. The taste is light, warm, smooth.

You will find you have never known a whisky with a taste like this. You will find yourself comparing it with the whisky you usually buy. And you may find yourself changing your mind about whiskies. The whisky in the hourglass bottle does that. The message comes through. Not loud. But clear. 60 seconds. Time enough.

Liberals Introduce Code

Minimum Wage To Be Raised

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal labor code featuring the controversial $1.25 an hour minimum wage law was introduced in the Commons Thursday by Labor Minister MacEachen who said "it breaks new ground in the field of labor standards not only in this country but on this continent."

Welensky Defeated

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Sir Roy Welensky suffered a decisive defeat by Deputy Premier Clifford Dupont in a byelection Thursday. Welensky was topped 1,678 votes to 653 in his bid to return to politics on a multi-racial policy in the constituency of Arundel.

Dupont, a member of Premier Ian Smith's ruling Rhodesian Front, had said he would regard the result as a vote of confidence for or against the government.

Three Men Seized In Home Bombings

JACKSON, Miss (UPI)—Three white men and an arsenal of high-powered rifles and other weapons were seized Thursday in connection with the bombing of two Negro homes in the racially-tense McComb, Miss., area.

DEATH PENALTY

Authorities charged the three men—one a Ku Klux Klansman—with bombing the homes, under a state law that carries a maximum penalty of death. They were rushed to Jackson for further questioning.

There were reliable reports that other persons were being questioned and further arrests might come shortly.

Paul Dewey Wilson, 25, Ernest Frederick Zech, 25, and Jimmy Princeton Wilson, 38, were picked up by FBI agents working with the highway patrol and Pike County Sheriff R. R. Warren.

MOVING GUNS

Wilson, a railroad worker and member of the Klan and the Americans for the Preservation of the White Race, was arrested first after federal and state agents saw him moving guns and ammunition out of his McComb home.

Bombs Fly in Belfast Battle

BELFAST (AP)—Club-swinging police charged crowds of bomb-throwing Irish Republican supporters here late Thursday night and brought in armored cars to crush a sudden outbreak of street fighting.

Molotov cocktails (gasoline bombs) hurled out of a crowd and one burst under a police armored car, forcing the occupants to jump clear. Police drew their batons and charged. They were met with a volley of blows aimed with iron bars and pieces of grating torn up from the roads.

One gang grabbed a trolley bus which had just discharged its passengers, turned it over and set it on fire. The bus was destroyed.

An official spokesman said 20 police were taken to a hospital for treatment and five detained, one in serious condition with a fractured skull. Twelve civilians were also injured in the fighting but all were released after hospital attention.

Fifteen demonstrators were carted off under arrest in police wagons and the city was quiet by 2 a.m.

The trouble erupted in the electoral district of West Belfast

—one of 12 Northern Ireland districts where voting takes place Oct. 15 for seats in the British House of Commons.

West Belfast is the only one of the 12 where the Republicans — dedicated to union of the six Northern Irish counties with the Irish Republic—are reckoned to have a fighting chance of victory.

Police clashed with the demonstrators after raiding the Republican party's campaign headquarters shortly before midnight and removing the Irish tricolor displayed in the building's shopfront.

An angry crowd estimated at more than 1,000 built up outside the headquarters and bombarded the police with rocks and bottles as they were forced back into the side streets.

Gas Leak Claims Two More Lives

NECKARSULM, West Germany (Reuters)—Elmer Lawrence of Milwaukee and his German-born wife Charlotte, who flew to Germany Wednesday to arrange the funeral of Charlotte's parents, both killed by leaking gas last Saturday, were killed in the parents' apartment—by leaking gas.

Rising Fury

Hilda Aims At Coast

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Hurricane Hilda, a 150-mile-an-hour storm, aimed its fury at the Louisiana coast Thursday night, and residents of the low-lying Cajun country fled inland.

Hurricane warnings went up from the Texas border to the mouth of the Mississippi below New Orleans. Gale warnings for the biggest storm of the season, extended from Galveston, Tex., to Mobile, Ala.

BOLLING IN

High tides were starting to roll in. Flooding was expected along the coast overnight.

Hilda, almost as big as the states of Louisiana and Mississippi combined, was bigger than Hurricane Cleo, which rained 140-mile-an-hour winds into Haiti last month, killing 150 people.

The storm was picking up speed after dawdling in the Gulf of Mexico building strength. Wind velocity increased from 90 miles an hour Wednesday to 150 miles an hour Thursday afternoon.

They Saved His Life

Alive after being found floating face down in Colquhoun Creek Thursday is two-year-old James White, 3318 Rolston Crescent, who was revived by his mother, Mrs. J. E. D. White, after she was attracted by hearing of French poodle Tawny. —(Bud Kinsman)

'Should Have Built Frigates for Navy'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons defence committee indirectly criticized Defence Minister Hellyer Thursday for cancelling the previous Conservative government's program to build eight frigates for the navy.

It said in a report tabled in the Commons that the navy needs new anti-submarine ships and that it has little air defence capability. The frigates were to have been equipped with anti-aircraft missiles.

The committee called for an early government decision on a naval construction program and gave first priority to a transport vessel capable of carrying troops and supplies for United Nations peace-keeping operations.

It recommended studies of nuclear propulsion for ships and said intensive research and development should be continued.

Scientists Declare:

Facts Contradict Racial Doctrine

PARIS (UPI)—The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization announced Thursday that 22 experts from 17 Western and Communist countries unanimously approved a declaration rejecting the doctrine of racism on scientific grounds.

It said biologists, geneticists and anthropologists agreed at a meeting in Moscow Aug. 12 to 19 that there is no justification for the concept of "superior" and "inferior" races.

"Biological data stand in open contradiction to the tenets of racism," the new declaration said. "Racist theories can in no way pretend to have any scientific foundation and anthropologists should endeavor to prevent the results of their researches from being used in such a biased way that they would serve non-scientific ends."

Taft-Hartley Order

Go Back to Work Longshoremen Told

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge Thursday night ordered an immediate halt to the Atlantic and Gulf Coast strike of 60,000 union longshoremen.

Acting under the Taft-Hartley law, invoked by the White House, Judge Frederick Bryan, in a temporary restraining order, enjoined the longshoremen from continuing their strike.

The order remains in effect until Oct. 10. Meanwhile, Judge Bryan scheduled an Oct. 9 hearing on a government request for a preliminary injunction to provide an 80-day cooling-off period in the strike.

The action came after Herbert Schmertz, head of a presidential board of inquiry, reported to President Johnson.

Schmertz conferred Thursday with officials of the New York Shipping Association, representing owners, and the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, which called the strike in a contract dispute.

Job security in the face of automation was the major issue, with wages another issue.

The board's function was to determine whether the strike imperilled the national health and safety.

Thomas W. Teddy Gleason, I.L.A. president, said the men would obey an injunction order.

MONTREAL (CP)—La Cogne (The Hatchet), a clandestine terrorist news sheet, advises its separatist supporters to instigate riots or put on a show of force during the Queen's visit to Quebec City, Oct. 10-11.

Taking No Chances

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. (UPI)—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police Thursday night were declared ready to clamp strict security on the island visit of Queen Elizabeth Monday and Tuesday.

RCMP Superintendent A. S. McNeil, commanding officer of the federal forces on Prince Edward Island, said "all necessary precautions" were being taken for the Queen's short stay.

Most police preparations are being kept secret, but the most obvious of their efforts has been the daily drills of motorcycle policemen who are practicing routine involved in the visit.

Commented Superintendent McNeil: Ballet dancers practise before their service, too."

Floats Adrift

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Quebec Separatists were believed to be responsible for the cutting adrift of five large, wooden mooring floats in Quebec City harbor.

The mimeographed pamphlet, published under the name of Le Front de Liberation Quebecois (FLQ), was described by police Thursday as "part of the arsenal" of Quebec terrorists.

The Aug. 29 edition of the twice-a-month sheet advised supporters to choose an "active" type of demonstration in Quebec City "aimed at creating a riot or putting on a show of force."

DISCONTENT

It made no mention of harming the Queen, saying only that "our discontent will express itself now in a more radical way to show the world that the people of Quebec irrevocably oppose the visit imposed on them."

La Cogne also said several cases of arms were stolen recently from the Montreal waterfront but that authorities had kept the news secret.

A Montreal police spokesman said he was unaware of any such thefts.

AGITATORS' ROLE

La Cogne advised those of its supporters "without precise instructions" to take part in demonstrations against the royal visit being organized by the Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale and the Front Republicain pour l'Indépendance separatist groups.

The issue devotes most of its space to an article on the agitators' role in demonstrations.

It said agitators should incite the crowd to persist in their demonstration even if fired on by the police. Slogans such as "down with the police gasta" should be raised.

Agitators should distribute

Dynamic Protection For Invasion

MONTREAL (CP)—Folios measures being taken for the forthcoming visit to Canada of the Queen were mentioned by a Crown prosecutor in court Wednesday when bail was denied C. W. Colomb, charged with illegal possession of 33 sticks of dynamite and an unregistered revolver.

Crown Prosecutor Jean-Guy Bolland quoted Colomb as telling police when arrested: "I had this in my possession just in case of an invasion."

Pope May Make Flight to India

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI Thursday was considering a trip to India.

His decision appeared to depend on the progress the Vatican ecumenical council makes by November, when a Roman Catholic eucharistic congress starts in Bombay.

The first firm evidence that the Pontiff was contemplating a 4,100-mile flight to Bombay came in l'Observateur Romano. The Vatican itself has denied several times any knowledge of such papal plans.

The Vatican daily newspaper carried an interview in which Valerian Cardinal Gracias, archbishop of Bombay, said the Pope will announce his trip several weeks in advance if he should decide to make the eight-hour flight.

A eucharistic congress is a major spiritual gathering held every four years. The 1964 congress is to open Nov. 26 in Bombay, eight days after the expected close of the Vatican council's current third session.

Gerry and Rosalyn

Bride-to-Be 13

Mother Dubious But Wedding 'Fixed'

Cunningham announced his engagement to Rosalyn Montasanto nine days ago. Since then he has been away on a NATO exercise. Holding hands with his teen-age fiancée, the airman, who is a clerk at the U.S. Air Force base at Marham near here, told reporters: "This is not just a fly-by-night affair. We will get married. It will be lasting and forever. She does not look like a 13-year-old. She is very mature in behavior."

When he announced his engagement he said they would wait until Miss Montasanto is 16 before marrying. Her parents gave their consent to the marriage.

Gerry's mother is reported from Philadelphia as having said:

"He'll never be able to convince me she is not a baby. But we have decided not to interfere."

Changes Ahead For Scouts

A new name, a new uniform and a new program for Boy Scouts between ages 14-18 is being currently discussed by Victoria Scout leaders following a visit last weekend from B. H. Mortlock of Ottawa Scout headquarters.

"A complete examination of the whole Boy Scout program and its place in the community, on up-dating in keeping with our changing society, is underway," the Colonelist was told by Mr. Mortlock, director of relationships services.

RESEARCH

"Scouting does not have as much appeal for the teen-agers as it did 20 years ago. We have spent four years on research, finding the cause and providing the remedy."

The change would not affect those from age 11 to 14, with whom traditional Boy Scouting is as popular as ever.

"A beret replaces the broad-brimmed hat. The shirt is sports style and the pants are either shorts or slacks, whichever the boy prefers."

DECIDE FOR SELVES

Mr. Mortlock also said, "The boys will decide more for themselves what they want to do, rather than have adults deciding for them."

"The new program is being experimented with across the country," said Mr. Mortlock, and he spoke of gliding clubs, alpine hiking groups, sailing regattas and marksmanship competitions now going on.

"However, the Scout motto and the Scout law won't change even if the new group adopts an extra motto," he said.

"In Canada today there are 362,000 boys in the movement served by 32,000 volunteer leaders," said Mr. Mortlock.

Martin Denies BCHIS to Blame For Delay in Transfer of DVA

Health Minister Eric Martin Thursday scored reports that the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service was to blame for the delay in transferring jurisdiction of Veterans' Hospital to Royal Jubilee Hospital. (See story, Page 14.)

"The federal government has not announced its intention of transferring the Veterans' Hospital to the provincial government," he said, "and besides, BCHIS does not make policy. The provincial government will make a policy decision if this hospital is offered to the province," he added, "and in turn will make the decision as to its ownership and management."

An Ottawa report earlier said Dr. J. N. Crawford, director-general of treatment services for the veterans affairs department, felt Royal Jubilee Hospital should take over Veterans' Hospital here.

"Dr. Crawford was expressing a wish beyond his prerogative to carry out," said Mr. Martin.

"I am fully aware of the attitude of the veterans, who prefer the administration of the hospital to remain as it is," Mr. Martin said, "particularly as I am a member of the Royal Canadian Legion."

"We will cross the bridge with respect to transfer if and when the the federal government decides to give up ownership."

Wages Rise

PARIS (Reuters) — French workers will get a 2.52 per cent wage increase next Thursday with the first increase in 15 months in the national guaranteed minimum wage.

Appeal's Residential Drive Given Substantial Start

The United Appeal on its first day of the residential campaign, Thursday, Oct. 1, reached $51,635.05—12.6 per cent of the $410,000 objective.

RAILY SUNDAY — Canvassers have been invited to a campaign rally Sunday at which they will also see a film, courtesy of the Rank organization and of the theatre staff and management who are donating their time.

Selections by HMCS Naden band will precede a premiere performance of the film Nothing But the Best, starring Alan Bates.

Meanwhile, reports on another collection front for the Greater Victoria campaign show good progress. Federal civil servants

Big Nanaimo Firm Enters New Field

VANCOUVER — Great National Land and Investment Corp., a Nanaimo-based company that has become one of B.C.'s largest land developers, Thursday made its first move into public financing.

At the offices of Montreal Trust Company, the real estate development and mortgage firm closed an issue of $500,000 convertible debentures series A bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest. A certified cheque was received from Orlum Brown Investments Ltd., in return for a thick pile of certificates.

Denman Woman Fined

CUMBERLAND — Mrs. Hazel May Mee, of Denman Island, was convicted and fined $13 in Cumberland police court for obstructing a conservation officer.

In the same court, her husband, William Mee, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to produce a driver's licence and was fined $8. The charge arose from the same incident in which Mrs. Mee was involved.

ASKED SIX TIMES
Conservation officer James Osmen testified that on Sept. 4, the day prior to opening of the grouse hunting season, he asked Mrs. Mee six times to get out of a pickup truck so he could pull the back of the seat down to search for guns.

In the end, he never did search the truck, Mr. Osmen told the court.

Mrs. Mee, who pleaded not guilty to the charge, told Magistrate J. Ryland that the conservation officer "was nasty with me, just nasty and brutal with me. He treated me like dirt." She also said she suffered from a bad back.

"DO NOT BELIEVE"
Magistrate Ryland said: "I find it difficult to believe any conservation officer would approach a truck and deal with a lady in as brutal a manner as she says and I do not believe what she says."

Two Fights Preceded Shooting

NANAIMO — Two Alberni Valley men said Thursday there were two fights and some "shooting around" at a Spruce Lake campsite June 26, shortly before William Clebar was wounded by a shot from a .22-calibre pistol.

Danny MacKinnon and Randle Dewey were testifying at the Assize Court trial of Robert Louis Kepchinsky, charged with criminal negligence causing bodily harm.

BEGAN TO ARGUE
Dewey said he had two fights with Clebar over a girl while the four men were camped at the lake. He said the second fight was broken up by Kepchinsky, but that he and the accused began to argue and shove each other around.

Dewey said he then began walking toward Alberni and about five minutes later heard shots.

MacKinnon told the court he saw the accused peer out of a tent, then fire several shots.

Veterinarian Available

PORT ALBERNI — Full-time services of a veterinarian are now available in this district with the opening of a surgery and clinic at 408 Burde Street. Dr. Kenneth W. Ayland, who has been working with Dr. J. Sheehan of Nanaimo and helping with the operation of a one-a-week clinic in the Orange Hall here, has started a general practice with premises which have been renovated to provide a surgery and isolation kennels.

Dr. Ayland, who formerly lived at Sidney, near Victoria, graduated in 1953 from Ontario Veterinary College. Before joining Dr. Sheehan, he worked on the lower mainland in a large animal practice.

Bridge Results

Winners of the weekly duplicate bridge tournament held recently at the Moose Hall were: 1. Miss Beal and Margaret McKee; 2. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller; 3. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reid; 4. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Allen; 5. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harris; 6. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bickel.

Great National was formed by the merger of Beach Estates Ltd., Nanaimo Mutual Investment Corp. Ltd., and Forest Park Estates Ltd. It was incorporated as a private company May 3, 1963 and became a public company April 1, 1964.

Frank Ney, co-owner of Nanaimo Realty Co. Ltd., said until now a private company has been formed for each new development. When the number of companies grew to about 40 and their assets to about $5,000,000 it began to get unwieldy, he said, and the chief accountant "said he'd go round the bend if we didn't simplify things."

Odd Fellows Planning Sale

PORT ALBERNI — Odd Fellows of this district are collecting odds and ends for a huge white elephant sale to be held Oct. 9 and 10 to raise funds for their many charitable projects. Householders are asked to donate items of all types to the cause and arrangements have been made to pick up donations in time for the sale. A phone call to Slim Minard or Art K. Taylor will bring a car or truck to haul away the goods.

Youth Sent to Jail For Breaking, Entry

COURTENAY — A Nanaimo youth, Earl R. Wallace, 20, was sentenced to six months definite and 12 months indefinite in Oakalla, after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking, entering and theft.

The convicted man, who pleaded guilty, was concerned in a theft from Super-Valu. David V. Gilmour was sentenced to the same term last week in connection with the same case.

Sharpe Elected President Of Minor Hockey Group

PORT ALBERNI — Ed Sharpe has been named president of the Alberni Valley Minor Hockey Association.

He was elected along with other executive members at a general meeting at which parks and recreation superintendent Dunc Russell conducted the election.

Division managers are Grant Brayford, Peanuts; Shorty Levins, Bantams; Bob Taschuk, Pee-wees; Toby G. Froerer, Juveniles and Juniors.

Fined $30 in Nanaimo

Driver Told He's Fortunate Charge Not More Severe

NANAIMO — A Nanaimo man, Colbert Good, was fined $30 and costs in magistrate's court on Thursday for driving without a licence. Court was told Good was the driver of a car that went out of control and hit a rock bluff at the bottom of the Chase River hill.

Good abandoned the car, then reported it stolen. He later admitted he was the driver, and it was found his driver's licence had expired, even though he was under suspension at the time. Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts commented that Good was lucky he was not charged with public mischief.

Three other motorists were fined $10 and costs each for driving with noisy mufflers, while four others paid $10 fines for running the stop sign at Brechin Road and Estevan.

A 15-year-old juvenile paid $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty to driving without a licence. He was stopped in a routine traffic check on the Island Highway at Nanaimo.

Some Sightseeing included in the KLM "55-a-Day" plan.

Tour Europe on KLM's amazing "U.S.$5-a-Day" plan. Read why it's best to start in friendly Amsterdam:

It's amazing, but true! You can actually tour 22 cities in Europe, including London, Paris and Rome, and spend no more than U.S. $5 a day for room, breakfast and sightseeing. KLM shows you how. You stay in clean, comfortable, conveniently-located hotels. You avoid expensive frills. Begin in hospitable Amsterdam and receive FREE—Ten Dutch Treats, Seven Special Introductions, and Unlimited Sightseeing!

1. A low-cost, $5-a-Day European tour is not for the tourist who demands the utmost in service and surroundings, who insists on staying at the very best hotels. It is for the unpretentious Canadian who is willing to live in the same style as that of the European tourist. The hotels that form part of the $5-a-Day system are clean, comfortable, and utterly respectable. They cater to families and to Europeans of all ages. But they lack frills. In some of these hotels, you'll have breakfast at the dining room table of the very European family that owns, operates and lives in the hotel. In many of these hotels, you'll have to share a bath with an adjoining room or rooms. In some, you'll find stairs only and no elevator. (Most European hotels are small.) But throughout your $5-a-Day tour, you'll encounter warmth, friendliness and a totally European outlook on life.

2. What you'll receive. For each of the cities on your tour, you'll receive a reservation at a carefully-selected budget class hotel. You'll also receive a breakfast for your $5-a-Day payment, and you'll receive—in each city—at least one, and in Amsterdam as many free sightseeing tours as you care to take. Your only additional cost will be the lunch and dinner which you yourself will purchase at any one of several recommended budget-priced restaurants, and personal expenses.

3. How to plan your vacation. A $5-a-Day trip is not an escorted tour. You plan your own itinerary, determine the number of days you will stay in each city, and also determine the dates on which you will depart and return. But a $5-a-Day tour is a prepaid tour—once you have made your $5-a-Day payment, you need pay nothing else in Europe—other than for lunches, dinners, transfers, and personal expenses.

4. Simply multiply by $5. To sign on for a $5-a-Day tour, stop in at your local Travel Agent or KLM office and choose your trip from any of the itineraries outlined in the KLM folder "Europe on $5-a-Day". All you have to do is to determine the number of days you wish to stay in each European city, then multiply the total number of days of your trip by $5 and pay the resulting sum to your Travel Agent or KLM office.

5. Make Amsterdam your European Gateway. You'll find Amsterdam an ideal starting point. From Amsterdam Airport, you have a choice of several flights every day to London, Paris, Hamburg and several per week to Rome. London and Paris are only an hour away. Rome, two hours, and five minutes. Frankfurt, one hour.

6. A new KLM booklet containing complete, detailed information on how you can see Europe on $5 a day is available. It gives you facts about the cities you can visit, the hotels in which you stay—exactly what you get for your $5. Whether you have already decided that this is your year to see Europe, or you are still just thinking about it, you'll find this booklet invaluable. Check coupon below for your free copy.

7. Rely on your Travel Agent—he is an expert. Your Travel Agent will help you with all your travel arrangements. For detailed information on rates, hotels, fares, reservations, connections, tours, multi-lingual guides and interpreters, documents, and currencies, see your Travel Agent.

FREE! TEN "DUTCH TREATS" THAT WELCOME YOU TO AMSTERDAM:

Rabies Scare in Kootenays

'Sick' Bats Tested

Rabies tests are being conducted this week on two "sick" bats which were found in the east Kootenays near Kimberley, provincial deputy health minister Dr. James Taylor said in Victoria Thursday.

Earlier this week a proven rabid bat was found in the Kamloops area and tests are still being made on "sick" bats which were found at Youbou, Denman Island and Parksville.

The first proven rabies case in Vancouver Island history was discovered in June this year after a bat bit a dog in Youbou.

In August a 12-year-old Comox boy was bitten on Denman Island by a bat which was described as "sick or injured." The animal was destroyed before tests could be made to determine if it had rabies. The boy was given serum to prevent him from being infected if the bat was rabid.

Health authorities point out there is little danger to the public, because most of the bats are migrating south. A certain number of "sick" bats are found every year.

Vandals Spray Paint

NANAIMO—Vandals with spray-paint cans are at work in Nanaimo again. RCMP say someone sprayed aluminum paint over the Standard Feed Building in the south-end district, as well as a car parked on Victoria Road.

Indian Appeal Case

Legislature May Hear Echo of Rifle Shots

The rifle shots that brought down six deer for Nanaimo Indians Clifford White and David Bob last year may echo in the B.C. legislature in the near future, pending the outcome of an appeal hearing in Victoria this week.

The Crown is seeking to appeal the judgement of Judge A. J. Swencicky that Vancouver Island Indians have the right to hunt and fish over unoccupied lands throughout the season.

Counsel for the Indians, Thomas Berger, Thursday claimed the B.C. Game Act only restricts white men to hunting in season and the act does not apply to Indians.

ULTRA VIRE

"If this court holds that it does apply to Indians, then the act is ultra vires (beyond the powers of legal authority) because only the federal government can legislate for Indians."

Mr. Berger told the panel of five judges the only competent authority that could take away the aboriginal rights of the Indians to hunt and fish is the federal government.

"These rights were confirmed by a royal proclamation in 1783, and the grant of Vancouver Island to the Hudson's Bay Company in 1849 was not intended to take away those rights."

INCONSISTENT

"If it did, it would have been inconsistent with the Crown's policy in other colonies," said Mr. Berger.

"Those rights are also supposed to be respected by the B.C. Game Act," he said.

Mr. Berger claimed the Indians did not give up their hunting and fishing rights when they sold their land to the Hudson's Bay Company because the document they signed guaranteed those rights.

NOT LEGAL

The Crown earlier argued the guarantee could not now be considered as a legal treaty because the Indians did not deal directly with the Crown, but with the Hudson's Bay Company.

Mr. Berger replied Thursday under early colonial law the Vancouver Island Indians had no right to give or sell their land to anyone but the Crown, so the Hudson's Bay Company must have been acting as agent for the Crown when the land deals were made.

Crown counsel T. G. Bowen-Coulthirst indicated he would argue today that the provincial legislature has the power to pass a game act that would apply to Indians.

Mr. Justice H. W. Davey is presiding.

Sleeping it Off

'Dead' Man On the Rails

DUNCAN—A frantic call to RCMP Wednesday night that there was a "dead man on the CPR tracks," sent police rushing to the scene, where they found Frank Jack, of Koksilah, lying across the railway tracks.

But, the man was not dead. In court Thursday, Mr. Jack pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place, and was fined $10 and $4.50 costs, or one day in jail.

Having been in jail overnight, he was released immediately after the court case.

In court, police prosecutor Const. William Baillie said: He (Jack) was so drunk, he couldn't walk and had to be carried to the police car."

Magistrate D. K. McAdam released the accused with a one-day sentence after Mr. Jack told the court that he had no money, "but lots of friends."

Possession, Contributing

Car Confiscated In Liquor Offence

LADYSMITH — A youth and two juveniles were fined a total of $200 in magistrate's court here Wednesday for liquor offences.

The charges arose after RCMP stopped a car which was carrying the trio, earlier the same day.

Jack Arnold Gunderson, 18, of Lake Cowichan, pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of two juveniles by supplying them with liquor, and to a second charge of being in possession of liquor while under 21. He was fined $300 on the contributing charge and $50 for the possession offence. Gunderson was given until Nov. 15 to pay the fines.

Gunderson's car was also seized under the government Liquor act and confiscated by the Crown.

The two juveniles involved in the incident, also of Lake Cowichan, admitted being minors in possession of liquor and were fined $20 each.

Chess Club Moves To New Quarters

PORT ALBERNI — Alberni Valley Chess Club moves into new quarters for the coming season as the Parks House in Recreation Park is made available for the group's Friday evening games.

At a recent business meeting it was decided to rent the city-owned building for the weekly sessions.

H. Skarup was elected president, J. de Graf, vice-president, and H. Benson, secretary-treasurer.

Appointed tournament director for the season was H. van Lent. C. Becker, appointed doorman, will be responsible for opening the building and setting up the sets; Mr. Skarup is membership and publicity officer.

Refreshment convener is to be appointed monthly with Mr. de Graf in charge for the first month.

Treacherous Tide Meets Pacific

Occasionally-calm Nitinat Bar, narrow passage to Nitinat Lake on open Pacific one mile west of Clo-oose, is rated most treacherous on the B.C. coast. When tide races out of lake at 10 and 12 knots, as shown here, and is met by mighty Pacific swells or storms, white wall of surf blocks passage at bar to anything larger than medium-sized tugboat or fishparker. Many a boat has crashed on whale-toothed rocks at centre right covered by high tide. Favorite spring fishing spot is just inside bar, but it's dicey fishing and not for tyros.—(Alec Merriman)

Civilization Moves In

Tofino Goes Modern With Co-op Store

By SUSIE McCL. HIRD

TOFINO—Civilization tightened its hold a little on this formerly-remote 60 m. municipality on the west coast of Vancouver Island when the $35,000 Tofino Consumers' Co-op building was opened this week.

The co-op centre is the first business building in Tofino to be heated entirely by electricity, the work being done by Walter Guppy's firm, Guppy Electric, of Tofino.

Tofino village chairman Thomas Gibson, whose wife cut a ribbon to open the building, had his contracting firm in such work as clearing, stonework, foundation and roofing.

Decoration and painting were by Thomas Pleasant of Tofino.

Completion of the exterior will be delayed until next week until the siding is delivered from outside this area.

FIRST AND MAIN

The co-op will house a department store, warehouse and five-room residence for newly-arrived manager Arthur Taylor and his family.

Its location at First and Main is in the centre of community activities where the co-op had, since its formation in 1946, leased a building on the government wharf from a private family.

The department store will operate on a self-service basis and will specialize in fishing gear for the industry which is No. 1 in the Tofino-Ucluelet area.

Nanaimo Mishaps

Tree, Bulldozer Kill Two Men

NANAIMO—Two fatal accidents occurred in the Nanaimo area Thursday.

A bulldozer operator from the provincial vocational training school was fatally injured when the machine he was operating ran over his head. He was clearing land for increased parking at the Nanaimo regional hospital when the mishap occurred.

Exact details of the accident are sketchy, but it is thought the operator was standing either on the tracks or behind the machine when it began to move, pinning him beneath. The bulldozer finally stalled in a patch of brush. Two instructors were in the vicinity but were unaware the accident had happened. It is a regulation that students do not leave their machines with the motor running.

There were no witnesses to the accident. Eleven-year-old Steven Baardson of 2431 Lynburn Crescent happened up on the scene on his way home from school and notified authorities.

RCMP are withholding the victim's name. He is known to be single and has a brother in Quebec.

FATAL BLOW

Earlier, a 15-year-old retired logger was killed while falling a tree at Nanaimo, north of Nanaimo.

Andrew Platt was killed when the tree struck a sapling. The falling tree was thrown sideways and the butt swung around striking Platt a fatal blow to the body. Nanaimo coroner Russ Inkster says an inquiry will be held.

Light Horse Seminar Planned for Tally-Ho

NANAIMO—A one-day meeting called a Vancouver Island Light Horse Seminar will be held in the Tally-Ho Motel Oct. 17 by the UBC extension department's agriculture service.

The meeting, which will run from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., will take place with the support and assistance of horse clubs and associations from all parts of Vancouver Island.

Topics will be management procedures during the breeding period, management practices and horse health, optimum feeding practices and health factors relating to conformation.

The staff will include Gordon Dudley, the executive director of the B.C. Thoroughbred Breeders' Society; veterinarian Dr. John Gilray of Cloverdale, and Graham Drew, agriculture supervisor for the UBC extension department.

Registration fees of $5 for adults and $3 for children 18 and under should be sent to Mr. Drew.

Upper Campbell Lake

One Body Recovered After Double Death

CAMPBELL RIVER — The body of a 15-year-old Campbell River youth was recovered Thursday from a watery grave at Upper Campbell Lake, 20 miles west of here.

A team of four naval divers from Esquimalt found the body of Marshall Stewart Abbott outside a car which had plunged from a trestle over a section of the lake.

The divers will attempt to raise the car today and search for the body of William Henry Knowles, 18, of Quinsam Road, who was with Abbott at the time of the mishap.

It is believed that the young employees of the Elk River Timber Co.'s camp on the Gold River Road drowned early Wednesday.

The naval divers who left Victoria at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday to assist in the search for the missing youths, found the badly-damaged car on Thursday.

The vehicle was lying on its roof in 120 feet of water below the trestle.

The divers, however, were using breathing gear which allows them to remain for only 12 minutes per day at a depth of 120 feet.

For safety purposes, time did not permit them to go below again on Thursday, after Abbott's body was recovered, a navy spokesman said.

Somass Legion Installs Executive

ALBERNI — Somass Branch 188, Royal Canadian Legion, and the branch auxiliary returned their presidents to office for another term at installation ceremonies held in the Alberni Legion Hall.

Zone commander Joe Cates installed the branch executive, while Mrs. B. Bowen, LA district representative, officiated for the women.

Taking office with President Taylor were Fred Richens, first vice-president; Don Morrison, second vice-president; Joe Cates, secretary; Walter Dean, treasurer; Harry Broadbent, sergeant-at-arms; Ave Casavant, grounds; Janet Spring, membership; Maeve Reid, publicity; Tony Broughton, pensions; Reg Lee, canteen; George Reid, house; Ken McGowan remains on the executive as immediate past president.

President Anderson's LA executive consists of Mrs. K. Evans, vice-president; Mrs. P. Ehret, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. Frost, recording secretary; Mrs. A. Hall, treasurer; Mrs. E. Goodall, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. N. Lipinski, stand-by; Mrs. N. Cates, sick and visiting; Mrs. D. Burgess, ways and means; Mrs. R. Love, entertainment; Mrs. M. Olson, publicity; Mrs. A. Worhaugh, immediate past president.

Loitering Brings Probation

Curfew Set for Youth

DUNCAN — An 18-year-old Koksilah youth, Charles A. Hill, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court, Thursday, to loitering or prowling at night.

He was given a six months' suspended sentence, together with a curfew and an order to stay away from the Shawnigan Lake area.

The charge was laid following a complaint from a teacher at the Strathcona Lodge school for girls, who reported she observed the youth outside late at night, and when she challenged him, he ran.

The teacher was able to identify the youth, and he was later apprehended by police.

Pointing out the seriousness of the offence, magistrate D. K. McAdam told the accused that he could have been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and fined $500.

Three Men Seized In Home Bombings

JACKSON, Miss (UPI)—Three white men and an arsenal of high-powered rifles and other weapons were seized Thursday in connection with the bombing of two Negro homes in the racially-tense McComb, Miss., area.

DEATH PENALTY

Authorities charged the three men—one a Ku Klux Klansman—with bombing the homes, under a state law that carries a maximum penalty of death. They were rushed to Jackson for further questioning.

There were reliable reports that other persons were being questioned and further arrests might come shortly.

Paul Dewey Wilson, 25, Ernest Frederick Zeech, 25, and Jimmy Princeton Wilson, 38, were picked up by FBI agents working with the highway patrol and Pike County Sheriff R. R. Warren.

MOVING GUNS

Wilson, a railroad worker and member of the Klan and the Americans for the Preservation of the White Race, was arrested first after federal and state agents saw him moving guns and ammunition out of his McComb home.

BELFAST (AP)—Club-swinging police charged crowds of bomb-throwing Irish Republican supporters here late Thursday night and brought in armored cars to crush a sudden outbreak of street fighting.

Molotov cocktails (gasoline bombs) hurled out of a crowd and one burst under a police armored car, forcing the occupants to jump clear. Police drew their batons and charged. They were met with a volley of blows aimed with iron bars and pieces of grating torn up from the roads. One gang grabbed a trolley bus which had just discharged its passengers, turned it over and set it on fire. The bus was destroyed.

An official spokesman said 20 police were taken to a hospital for treatment and five detained, one in serious condition with a fractured skull. Twelve civilians were also injured in the fighting but all were released after hospital attention. Fifteen demonstrators were carted off under arrest in police wagons and the city was quiet by 2 a.m.

The trouble erupted in the electoral district of West Belfast—one of 12 Northern Ireland districts where voting takes place Oct. 15 for seats in the British House of Commons.

West Belfast is the only one of the 12 where the Republicans—dedicated to union of the six Northern Irish counties with the Irish Republic—are reckoned to have a fighting chance of victory. Police clashed with the demonstrators after raiding the Republican party's campaign headquarters shortly before midnight and removing the Irish tricolor displayed in the building's shopfront. An angry crowd estimated at more than 1,000 built up outside the headquarters and bombarded the police with rocks and bottles as they were forced back into the side streets.

Rising Fury

Hilda Aims At Coast

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Hurricane Hilda, a 150-mile-an-hour storm, aimed its fury at the Louisiana coast Thursday night, and residents of the low-lying Cajun country fled inland.

Hurricane warnings went up from the Texas border to the mouth of the Mississippi below New Orleans. Gale warnings for the biggest storm of the season extended from Galveston, Tex., to Mobile, Ala.

BOLLING IN

High tides were starting to roll in. Flooding was expected along the coast overnight.

Hilda, almost as big as the states of Louisiana and Mississippi combined, was bigger than Hurricane Cleo, which rumbled 140-mile-an-hour winds into Haiti last month, killing 150 people.

The storm was picking up speed after dawdling in the Gulf of Mexico building strength. Wind velocity increased from 90 miles an hour Wednesday to 150 miles an hour Thursday afternoon.

Taft-Hartley Order

Go Back to Work Longshoremen Told

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge Thursday night ordered an immediate halt to the Atlantic and Gulf Coast strike of 60,000 union longshoremen.

Acting under the Taft-Hartley law, invoked by the White House, Judge Frederick Bryan, in a temporary restraining order, enjoined the longshoremen from continuing their strike.

The order remains in effect until Oct. 10. Meanwhile, Judge Bryan scheduled an Oct. 8 hearing on a government request for a preliminary injunction to provide an 80-day cooling-off period in the strike.

The action came after Herbert Schmeitz, heard of a presidential board of inquiry, reported to President Johnson.

Schmeitz conferred Thursday with officials of the New York Shipping Association, representing owners, and the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, which called the strike in a contract dispute.

Job security in the face of automation was the major question, with wages another issue. The board's function was to determine whether the strike imperilled the national health and safety.

Thomas W. Teddy Gleason, I.L.A. president, said the men would obey an injunction order.

'Should Have Built Frigates for Navy'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons defence committee indirectly criticized Defence Minister Hellyer Thursday for cancelling the previous Conservative government's program to build eight frigates for the navy.

It said in a report tabled in the Commons that the navy needs new anti-submarine ships and that it has little air defence capability. The frigates were to have been equipped with anti-aircraft missiles.

The committee called for an early government decision on a naval construction program and gave first priority to a transport vessel capable of carrying troops and supplies for United Nations peace-keeping operations.

Pope May Make Flight to India

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI Thursday was considering a trip to India.

His decision appeared to depend on the progress the Vatican ecumenical council makes by November, when a Roman Catholic eucharistic congress starts in Bombay.

The first firm evidence that the Pontiff was contemplating a 4,100-mile flight to Bombay came in L'Osservatore Romano. The Vatican itself has denied several times any knowledge of such papal plans.

The Vatican daily newspaper carried an interview in which Valerian Cardinal Gracias, archbishop of Bombay, said the Pope will announce his trip several weeks in advance if he should decide to make the eight-hour flight.

A eucharistic congress is a major spiritual gathering held every four years. The 1964 congress is to open Nov. 28 in Bombay, eight days after the expected close of the Vatican council's current third session.
